South Houston, Texas
Vol. IV,

Dudley,
You a real great guy with a wonderful personality. I'll never forget all the fun we had in English. Stay sweet and I'll always love you. Lots of luck and may God bless you Always

Ideas which once seemed quite progressive become obsolete on February 20 when John Glenn opened a doorway in the sky with his three orbital flights around the world. No longer does a boundary limit the future. Our age is an age of discovery, an age which belongs to young hearts and mature minds.

New worlds lie within a man's reach. Through the mist that shrouds our future we can see visions of great achievement and of great rewards. Beckoning across the threshold of time, the future offers much to those who dare to go beyond the world we know. Education, opening doors to deeper understanding and greater knowledge, will provide the means to conquer these new frontiers. The educated, well-rounded personality can adapt itself more readily to the ever-changing environment of today.

Trojans are being trained to cross those frontiers to bring back the rich rewards that lie beyond. At South Houston High School doors will begin to open slowly but surely as each student takes a personal interest in classes and activities. Let the gentle push of initiative, abilities, and curiosity do its work in opening these doors that will lead all Trojans to unknown lands, and over uncharted areas. They will be

Bird's-Eye View Reveals Size and Symmetry

Viewed from the air, South Houston Senior High School presents a panoramic picture. In October of 1957 the teachers and the first student body moved into the new building. In 1959-1960 the library, the band hall, the classroom wing, and the boys' gym were completed. Today South Houston boasts a growing student body of 1,310.

New Superintendent Administers School Program

Each community or group of communities organizes and manages its own schools under the supervision of a board of education and a superintendent of schools. This school board has considerable independence in employing and paying teachers and in providing buildings. It may also develop courses of study within the framework of state law. Each school board member is elected by the voters in the school district and serves without pay. Much time and planning is necessary for the Pasadena Independent School system to continue to progress and meet the demands of the future in fulfilling the need for qualified teachers and adequate classrooms.

ROBERT W. COFFMAN
Deputy Superintendent and Business Manager

Close cooperation between school leaders, the superintendent, and the school board is necessary to efficiently tend the needs of the school district. Mr. Carroll Teague, principal of South Houston High School, and Mr. Tilman White, principal of Pasadena High School, attend the school board meetings regularly. At the right is Elmer Bondy, assistant principal at Pasadena High.

School Board Links Community With Education

Meeting regularly once a month, the school board has made many plans during the 1961-1962 school year. Busy members take time from their various occupations to plan the district's school program. They form the vital link between the community and the schools.

Active Leadership Inspires Learning

Running South Houston High School is a full time job for principal Carroll Teague. He enjoys working, however, and says that the school is his uppermost interest, next to his home and family. "If you're not going to do your best at whatever you attempt, then don't do it!" is his philosophy. Working closely with the faculty, Mr. Teague encourages each teacher to do his best in his particular field. Of special interest this year has been the experiment in team teaching.

After graduating from Jefferson Davis High School in Houston, he attended Sam Houston State College and did post graduate work at A&M College. He received his Master's degree in science from the University of Houston.

Frank Fisher, the assistant principal, is in charge of building maintenance, grounds, programs, graduation, and "what Mr. Teague doesn't have time to do!" He graduated from Tivy High School in Kerrville, Texas, and received his B.A. degree at Howard Payne College and his Master's degree at the University of Houston. Mr. Fisher is an avid golf player and quite a fisherman.

Co-operation Keeps South Houston

"So you want to be a biochemical engineer, then this is the school for you!" Avis E. Harding, counselor for the senior class and half of the sophomore class helps many students choose their careers and future schools and helps them plan their high school courses. She received her B.S. degree from Sam Houston State College and then completed her M.Ed. at the University of Houston.

"Here, Mr. Knight, have a cup of coffee," offers Mrs. Hutchinson during a morning break.

Known for his eagerness to help every student in any way, Granville C. Knight is counselor for the entire junior class. He received his B.A. degree from North Texas State College and his M.A. degree from the University of Houston. Mr. Knight's pride is the Trojan Council which he has helped grow into a very worth-while service organization and a symbol of Trojan goals.

Running Smoothly

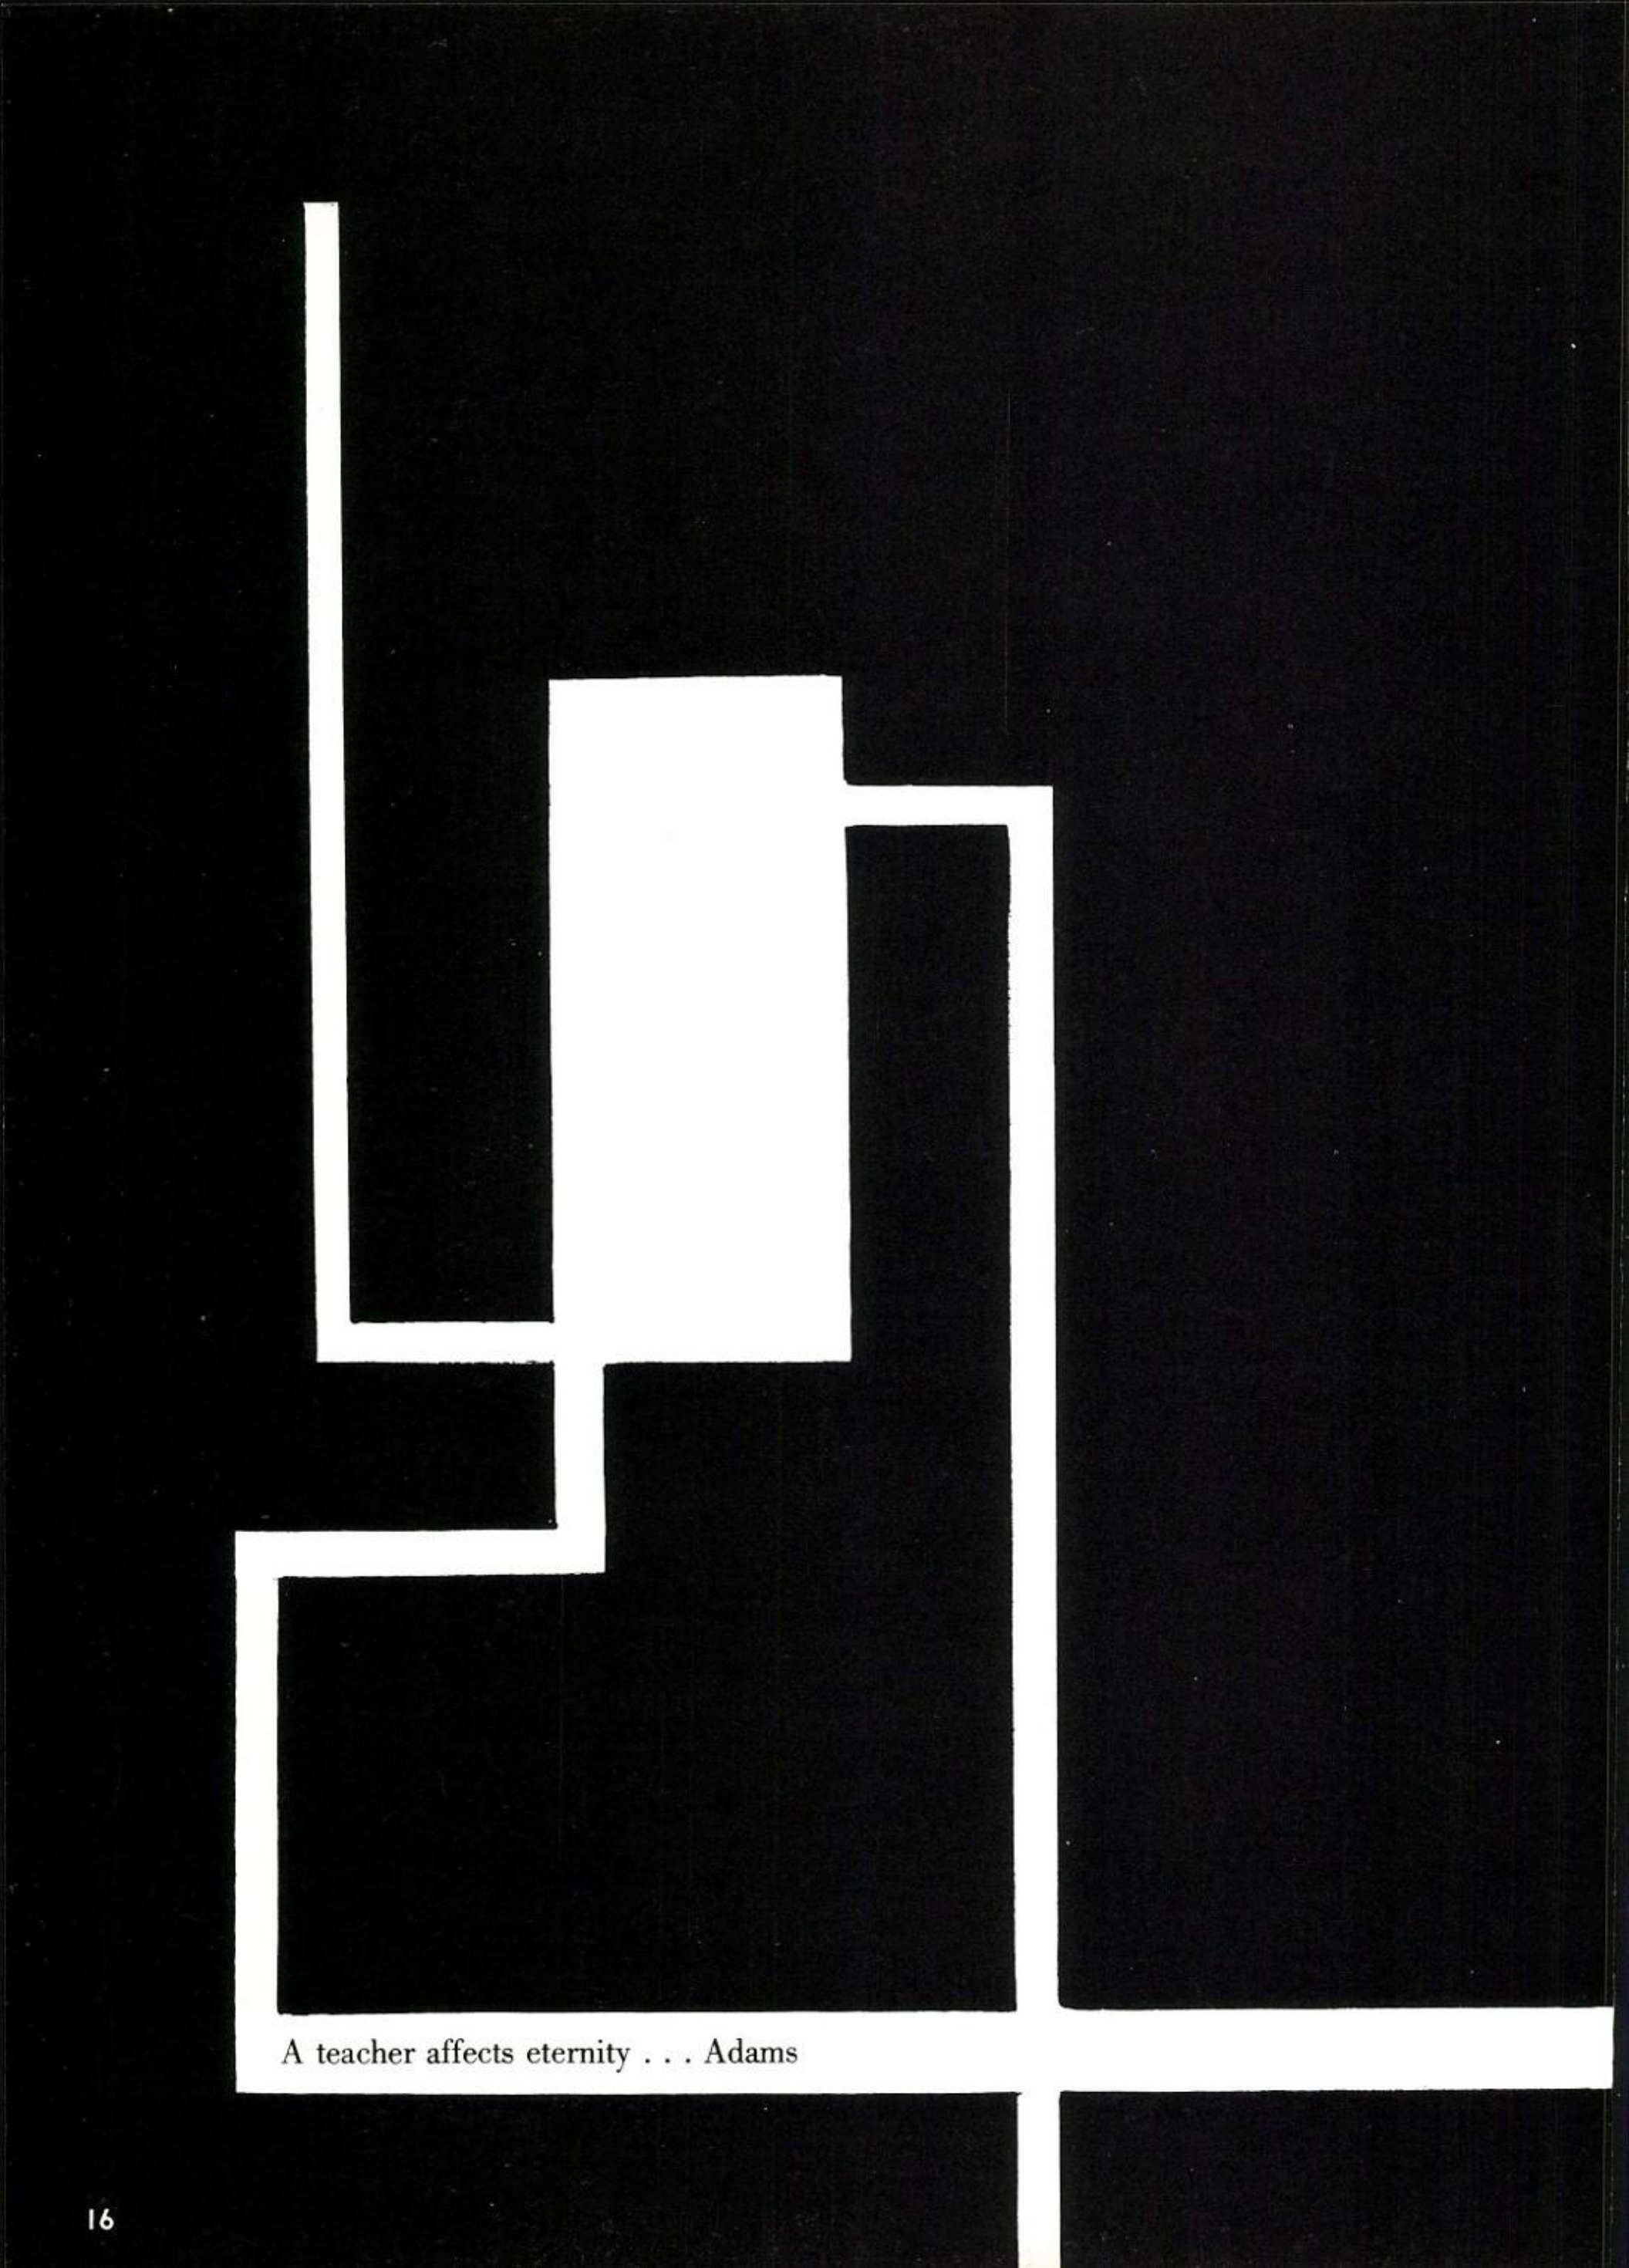
Among other things, office work involves writing and answering letters, keeping records, making out reports, sending transcripts, and operating office machines. These office workers handle the vast amount of business that goes along with running a high school.

Mary Ann Nowak, new this year at South Houston, is attendance clerk and secretary to Mr. Fisher, assistant principal.

Faye Vincent, registrar, enrolls new students, and keeps permanent grade records.

Jeanne Hutchinson is secretary to Mr. Teague, principal.

Katie Byrne is responsible for editing the fifth period bulletin and serves as the school clerk.



A teacher affects eternity . . . Adams

FACULTY and CURRICULUM

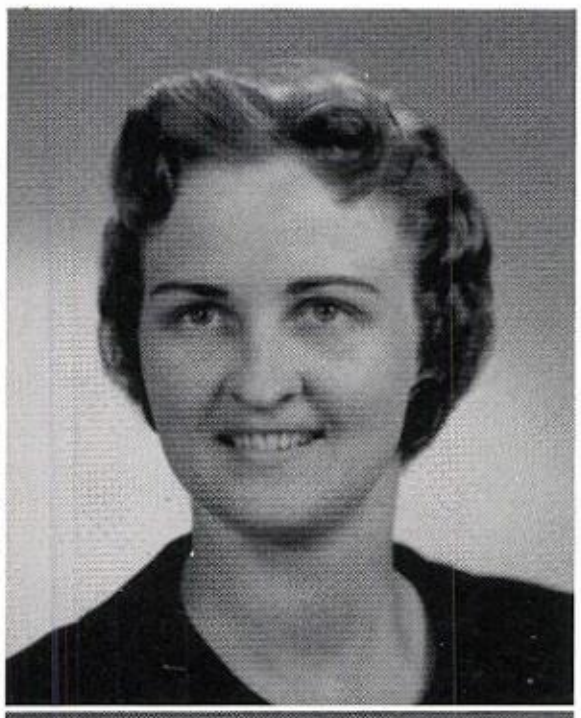
"What in the world do Milton and Bunyan have in common?" ponder Mrs. Parker's third period English class as they struggle with a comparison of the two authors.

English Department Strives for Effective Communication

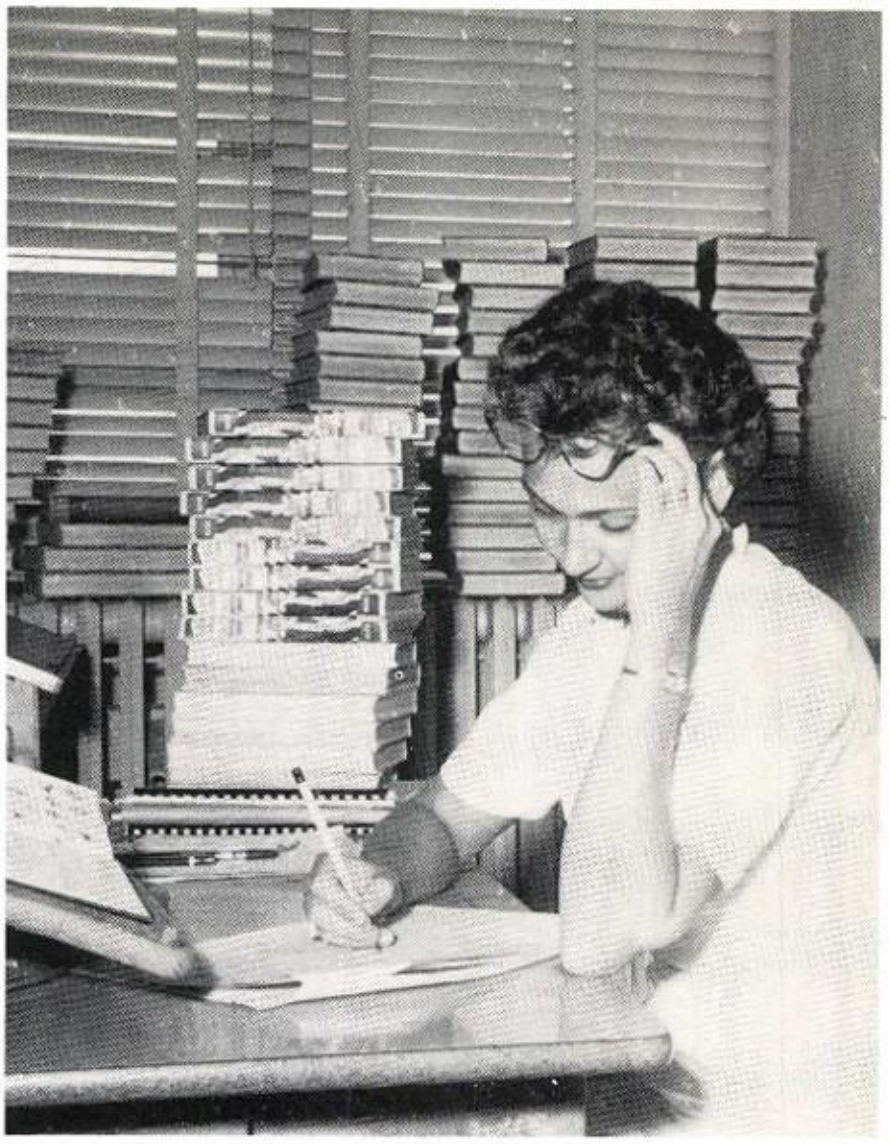
South Houston's English department works closely together sharing ideas, pooling resources, and developing a team spirit to teach students the basic fundamentals of the English language, of literature, and of good writing. New rapid reading programs were introduced this year to improve students' reading skills and comprehension. Four years of English and also a composition course for seniors are offered.

Ina McDaniel attended the University of Houston, where she obtained her B.S. degree. Mrs. McDaniel teaches English and sociology and is co-sponsor of the sophomore class.

Head of the English department and a junior English teacher, Marie Barfield is a graduate of Sam Houston State College with a B.A. degree.



Cheerleader sponsor and junior English teacher Genevieve McCaffety attended Sam Houston State College, where she received her B.S. degree.



Piles of English textbooks and long lists of book numbers confront Mrs. Barfield at the first of school.

Shirley Ellison, Rice University graduate, holds a B.A. degree. She teaches English and is co-sponsor of the senior class.

Palladium sponsor and main photographer, Frances Parker also teaches English IV and composition. Mrs. Parker is a graduate of T.C.U. with a B.A. degree.

Mrs. Calelly uses recordings of famous literature to teach English.

Eva Crumpler, with B.A. and M.Ed. degrees from the University of Houston, teaches English II and III.

New this year at South Houston, Carolyn Perry teaches junior English. She graduated from North Texas State with B.S. and M.A. degrees.

Perhaps Mrs. Ellison is reading the book Pat Horacek is reporting on—she is really paying attention.

First period senior composition class are intently watching one of Shakespeare's plays on the screen. Probable thoughts are, "What in the world will we have to write about this!"

Shakespearean plays and book reports are important parts in English curriculum. Seniors had the opportunity to attend the Alley Theater and see a stage production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet." Sophomores were shown the film of "Julius Caesar" after they had studied the play in class. Most classes are required to read a certain number of books and plays during a semester. Projects and oral group discussions combine to make learning "as simple as English."

1. Antony sends a message to Brutus to gain assurance for safety for him to go to learn why Caesar was killed.
2. Against Cassius's advice, Brutus lets Antony speak at Caesar's funeral.
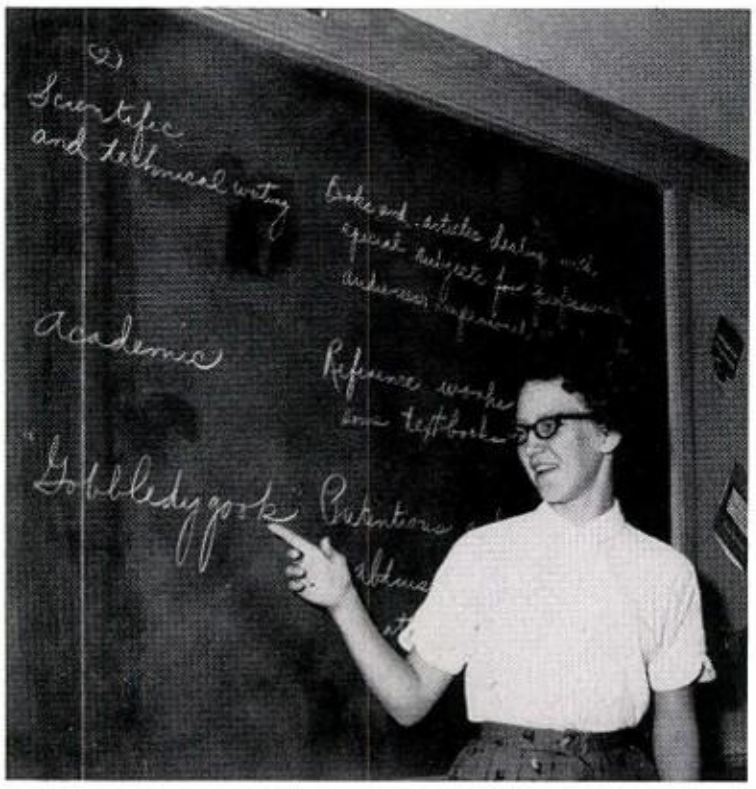
3. Antony determines to avenge Caesar.
4. Octavius Caesar arrives near Rome.
5. Antony makes his great oration to the people.
6. Antony's words fire the people to rioting.
7. Brutus and Cassius flee
8. Antony, Octavius Caesar
9. Portia
Resolution

"What a lot of time and work went into these projects!" thinks Diane Alexander, one of Mrs. McCaffety's sophomore students looking at several "Julius Caesar" projects.

Projects, Grammar, Book Reports, Shakespeare . . . All Are Components of English



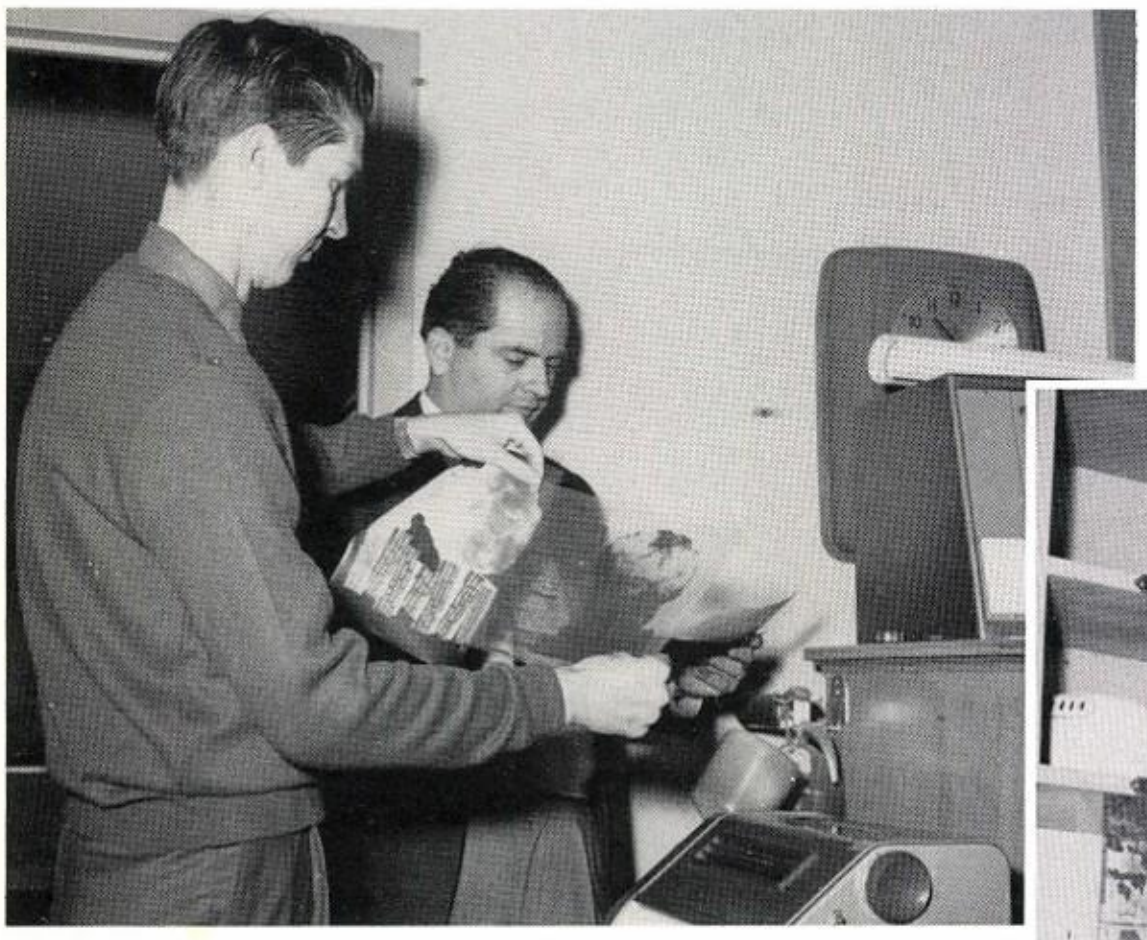
Virginia Smith points out the type of writing most students are quite familiar with —and are trying to improve.

First assemblies of the year mean mass confusion until proper seats are found. Mrs. Parker assigns Thomas Spencer his seat in Row B.

History Department Experiments

For the week of January 8-16, the history department of South Houston used team teaching to present a unit over the Berlin Crisis. The unit was divided into five topics, with Mr. Knebel lecturing first on the problems of occupation of Germany. Mrs. Feazle then discussed the German Federation; Mr. Baker covered economic conditions; Mr. Grammer, religion, education and culture; and Mr. Satterwhite concluded the lectures with the Berlin situation today.

Mr. Knebel and Mr. Satterwhite prepare layouts for photographic copies to illustrate the lectures by use of the overhead projector.

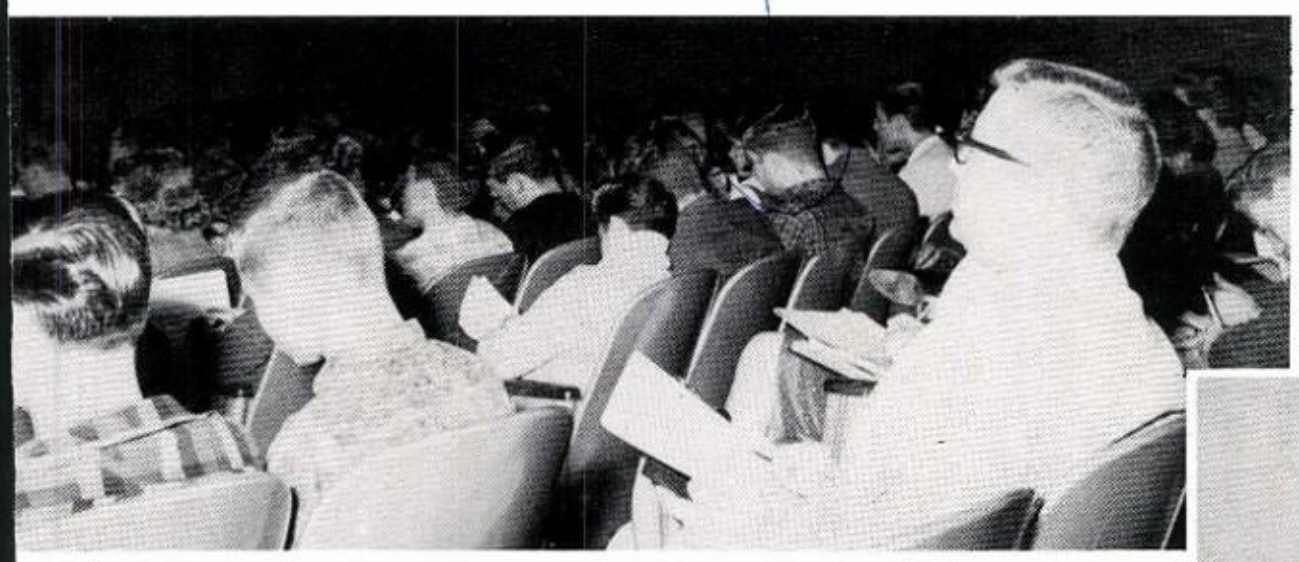


Mr. Baker and Mr. Knebel process the negatives for the photographic copies.

in Team Teaching

Much preparation went into research and visual aids to give the students an all-round understanding of the present situation. After the week of lectures in the auditorium, each teacher took his class back to the individual rooms for a day of questions and discussion. Then everyone was given a test made out by the teachers who did not lecture. Students were asked to write an opinion and to give criticism. In the opinion of most of the students and the teachers, the program was a success.

Mrs. Feazle lectures over the German Federation.



No time for chatter as Mr. Baker lectures; just listen and take notes.

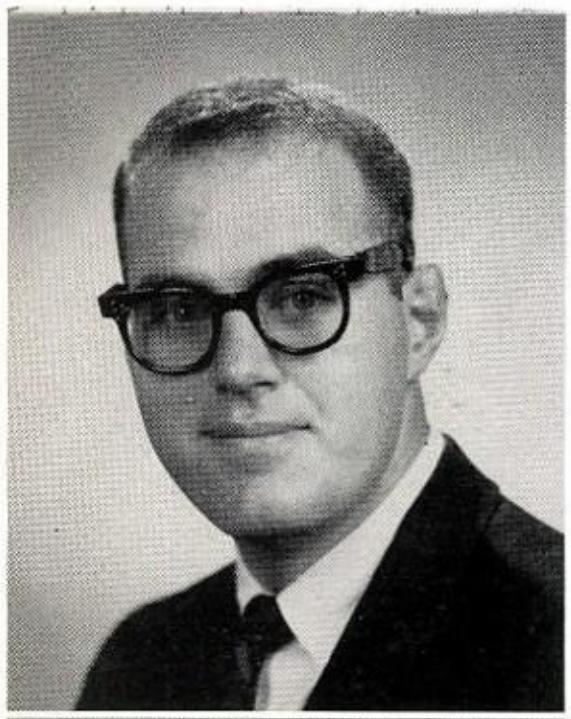
"I didn't know we had this many students!" gasps Mrs. Singley as she is confronted with piles of test papers to grade.

At left Mr. Satterwhite hangs the completed film up to dry.

Study of History Gives Confidence for the Future

Pasadena Independent schools require students to have four credits in geography, history, and civics for graduation. South Houston High offers a well-rounded program of social studies to fulfill these requirements. World history is offered for sophomores, American history for juniors, and civics and a choice of Texas history or economics for seniors.

Mr. Baker gets really enthusiastic over the Shenandoah Campaign and gives a DETAILED description of the battles to his American history classes.



This past year was Thomas Farmer's first year of teaching at South Houston. He obtained an A.B.A. from Lon Morris Junior College and a B.S. in history from the University of Texas.

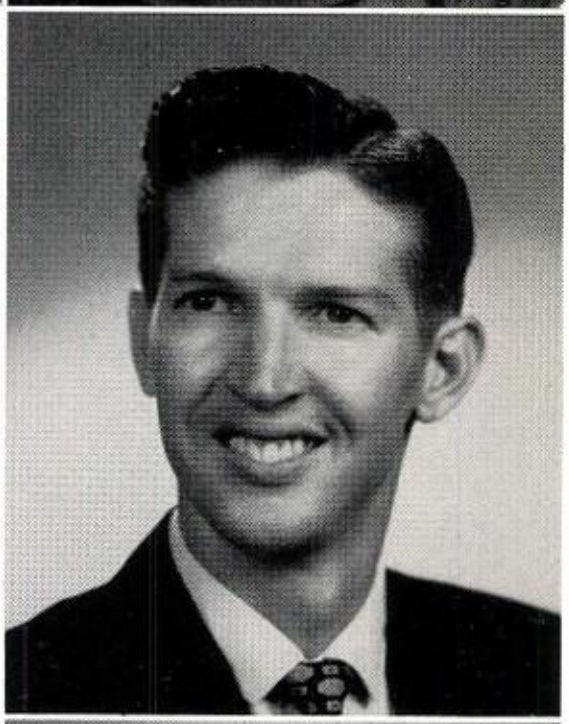
Teaching seniors about the American government is the duty of Ruth E. Montgomery. She acquired her B.S. from the University of Houston.

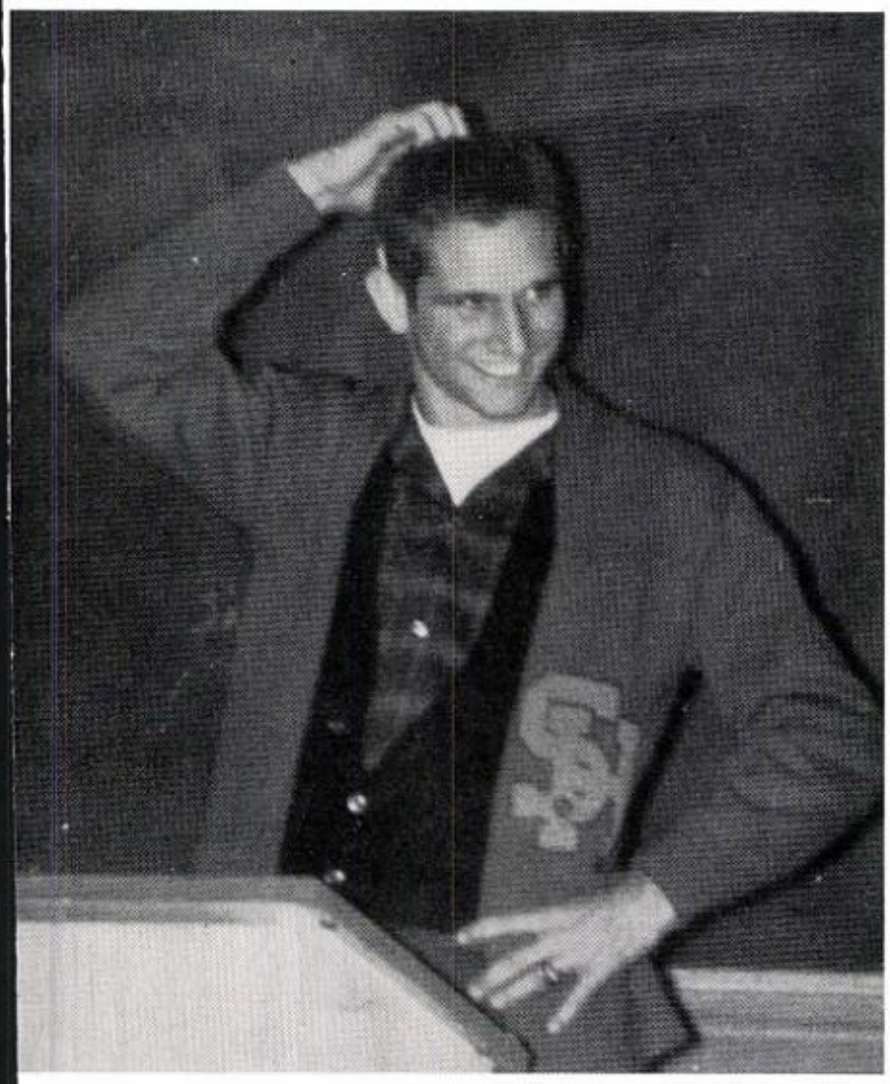
Madelon Feazle teaches both Texas history and world history. She attended Baylor University and received her B.S. from the University of Houston.

Ably serving as head of the social studies department is Julius Knebel. He holds a B.S. and a M.Ed. from Southwest Texas State College. Besides teaching world history, he sponsors the bowling club.

Sally Warner teaches Texas history and journalism and sponsors the Trojan Torch. She received her B.S. degree from Sam Houston State College.

American history teacher Robert L. Baker has a reputation of being an authority on the Civil War. He received his B.A. from Baylor University.





"Now, what was that chapter about?" wonders Dickie Muehlenbeck, "caught in a spot" during civics reports.

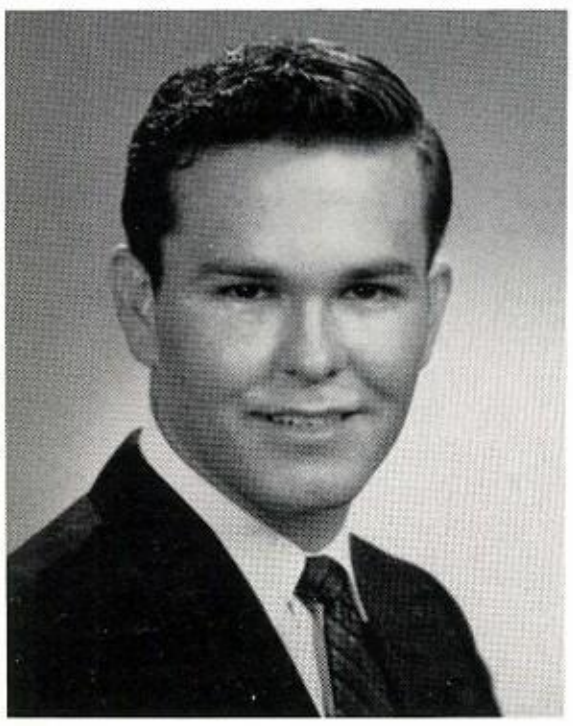
Among the new teachers at South Houston this year is Thomas Birdsong teacher of world history. He attended Arkansas A&M, where he received his B.S. degree.

Howard R. Satterwhite teaches both American history and world history, as well as being junior class sponsor. He obtained his B.S. degree from North Texas State College and his M.Ed. from the University of Houston.

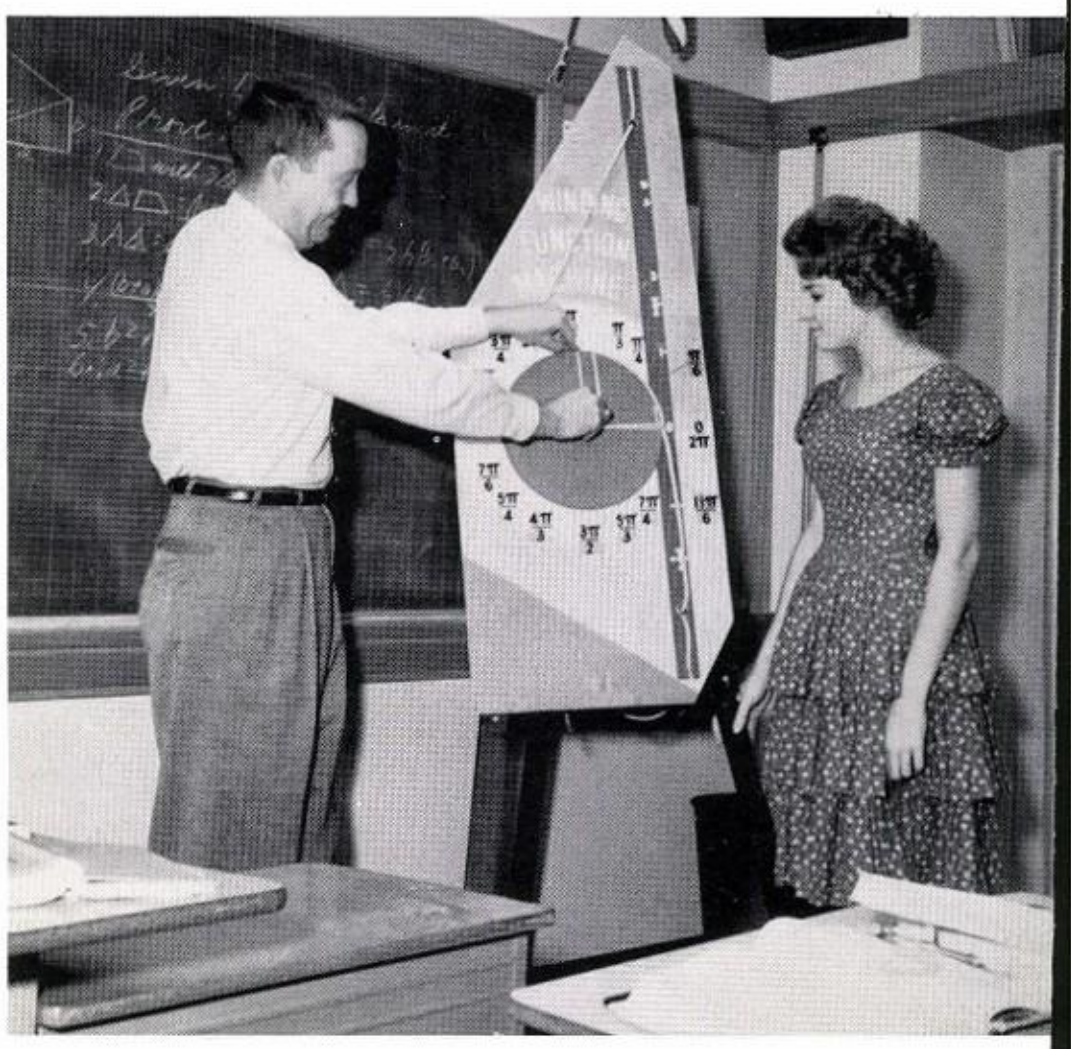
Math Opens the Door to Science and Industry

Ovid Horne received his B.S. from the University of Houston. He teaches Algebra I and Algebra II.

"Mathematics," wrote the English scientist Roger Bacon in 1267, "is the gate and key of the sciences." Most scientists depend on math for exact descriptions and formulas. In industries, mathematics is a necessity in research and planning; in business all transactions that involve buying and selling call for math. Algebra II, plane geometry, applied math, trigonometry, solid geometry, and advanced math are all offered at South Houston to enable students to solve practical problems and explore the mysteries of the space age.

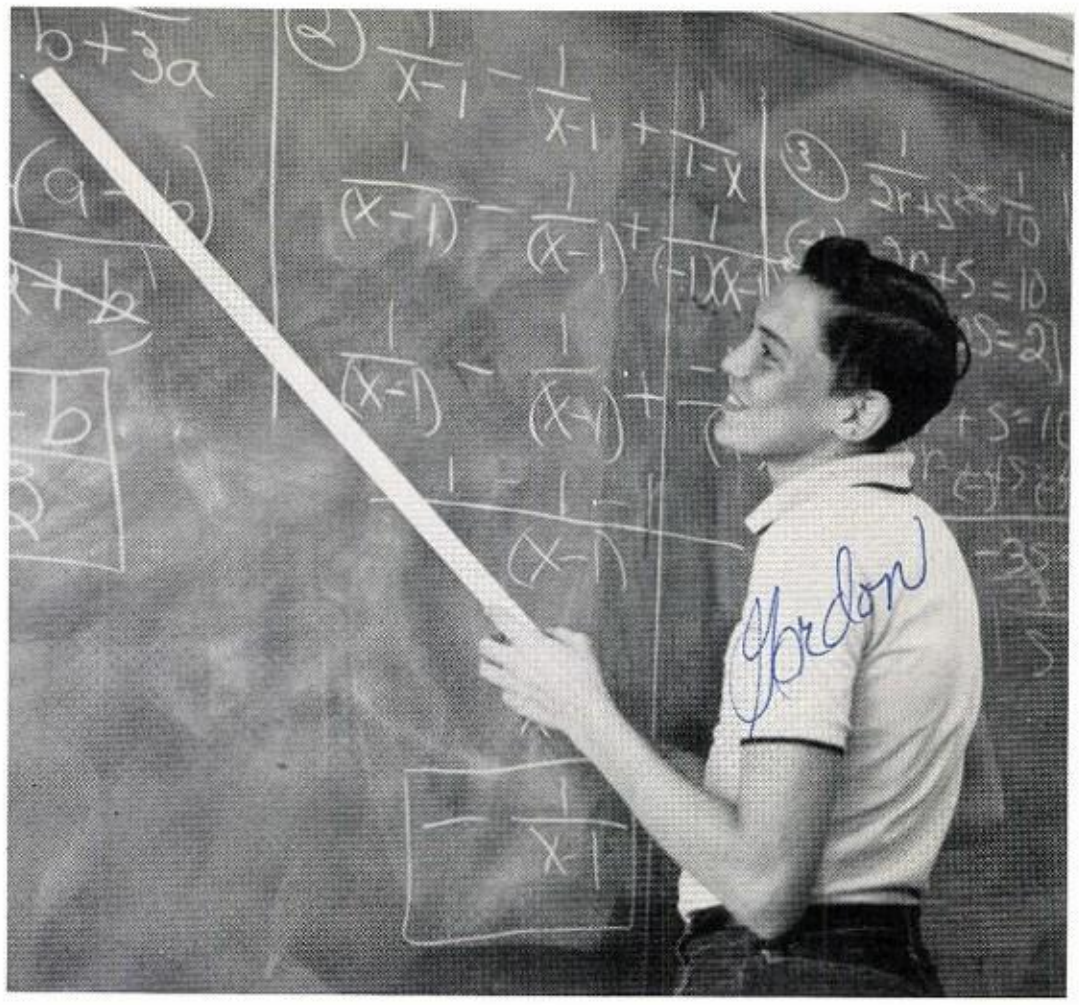


James Smith, University of Texas graduate, holds a B.A. degree. Mr. Smith teaches plane geometry, solid geometry, and algebra and sponsors Mathematics Unlimited Club.

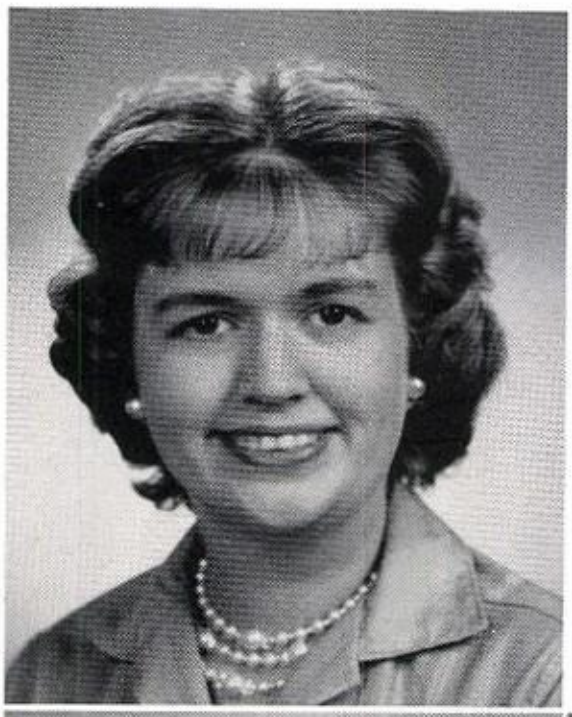


Mr. Carson demonstrates to Cynthia Vinson the Winding Function Machine, invented by a friend of his.

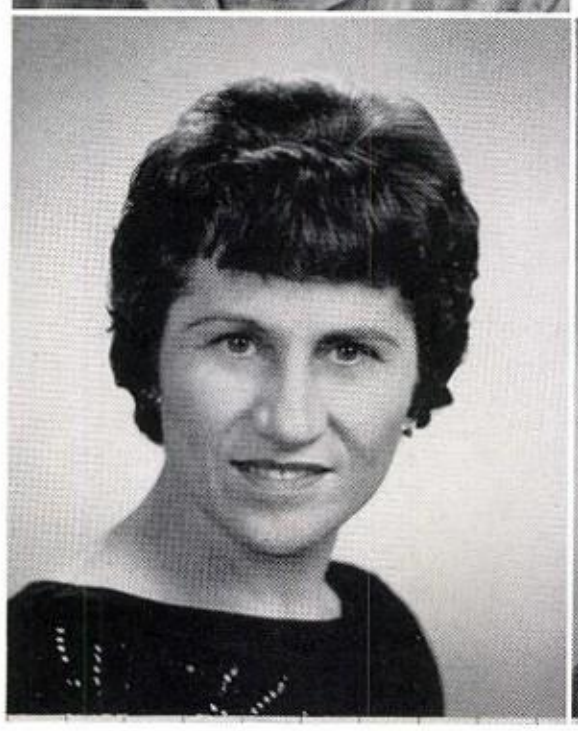
James E. Carson, head of the math department, teaches plane geometry, trig, advanced math, and economics. He attended East Texas State College where he received a B.S. degree.



Gordon Swoboda explains a factoring problem in Mr. Smith's algebra II class.



One of the new teachers at South Houston, Cherry Baucum, attended the University of Texas where she received her B.A. degree. She teaches plane geometry and algebra II and sponsors the Slide Rule Club.

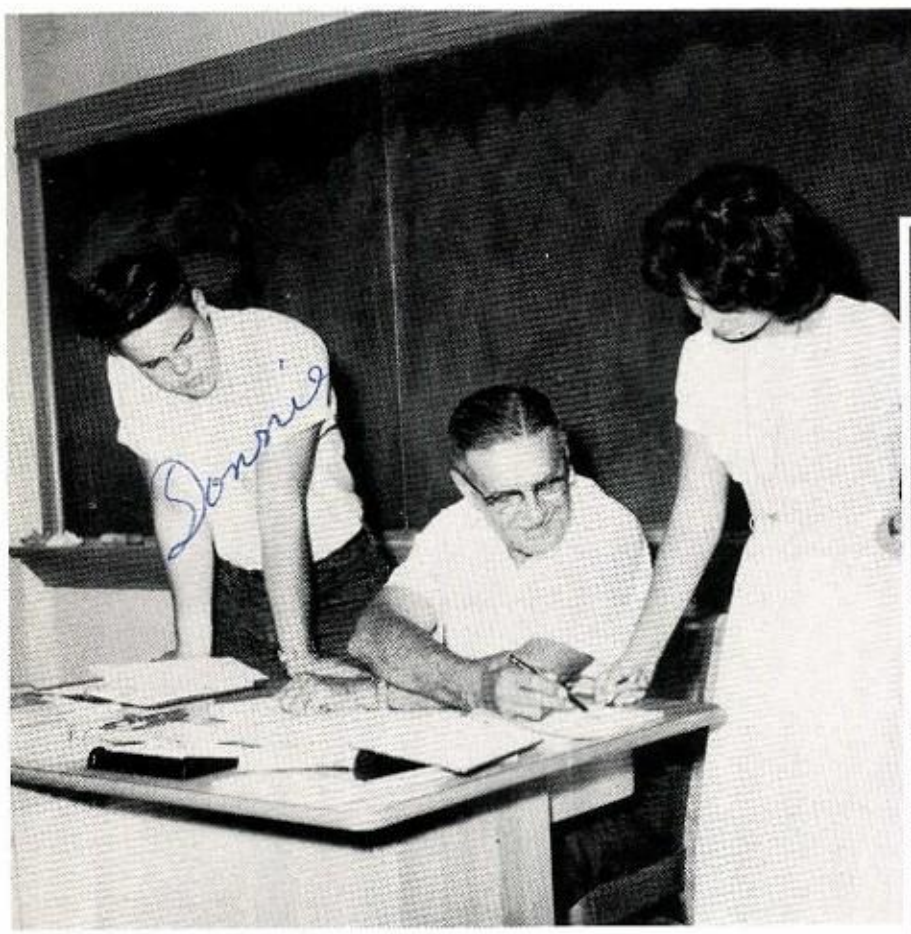


Elwanda Walker, with a B.S. and M.Ed. degree from the University of Houston teaches plane geometry and algebra II.

Dorothy Williams attended Texas Women's University and received a B.A. degree. She teaches business arithmetic.

"Hey! Could You Work Problem Number Four On Last Night's Homework?"

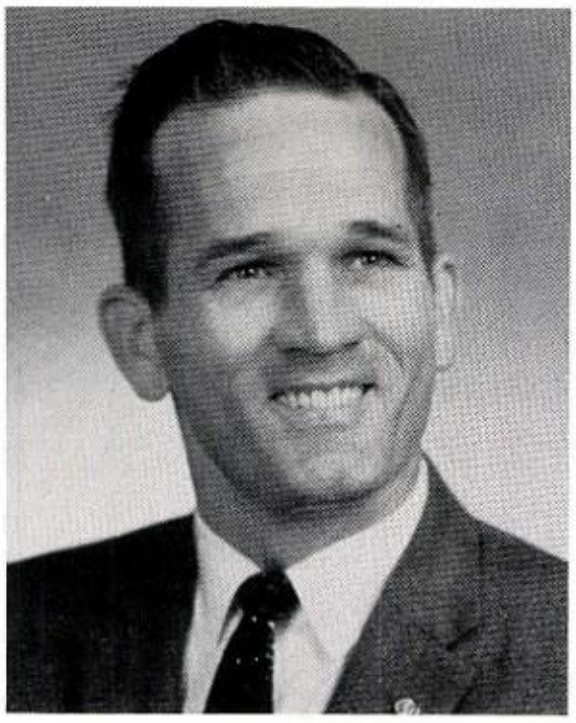
Typical comments of all math students early in the morning are, "Boy, was that homework hard!" and "Could you work all those problems?" as they rush to complete their assignments before class time.



"Now, see how easy these graph problems are," explains Mr. Horne to Terri Hendricks. Donnie Harper seems to be having the same trouble.

Bobby Boone and Joe Councill try to figure out a hard problem with the help of a slide rule and the CRC tables.

Mr. Smith explains some algebra homework to one of his classes.



Allen M. Sory presides over the science department of South Houston. He acquired his B.S. from Baylor University and his M.Ed. from the University of Houston.

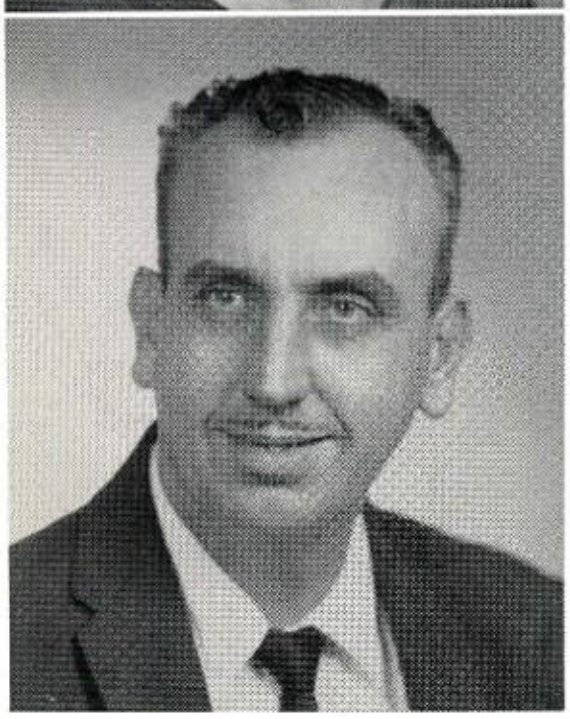
Dissecting a grasshopper proves to be an exciting experience for Shirley Jurek and Virginia Brooks.

Space Age Demands Thorough Knowledge of Science

This year the South Houston science department consisted of nineteen biology classes, five chemistry classes, two physics classes, and two classes of applied science. The three well-equipped laboratories, one each for biology, chemistry, and physics, made it possible to carry out research and experiments and to learn proper laboratory procedures.

Jaye Brauch attempts to dissect a frog during a laboratory experiment for biology.

Emmeline Dodd, a graduate of Stephen F. Austin State College with a B.A. degree, teaches biology at South Houston.



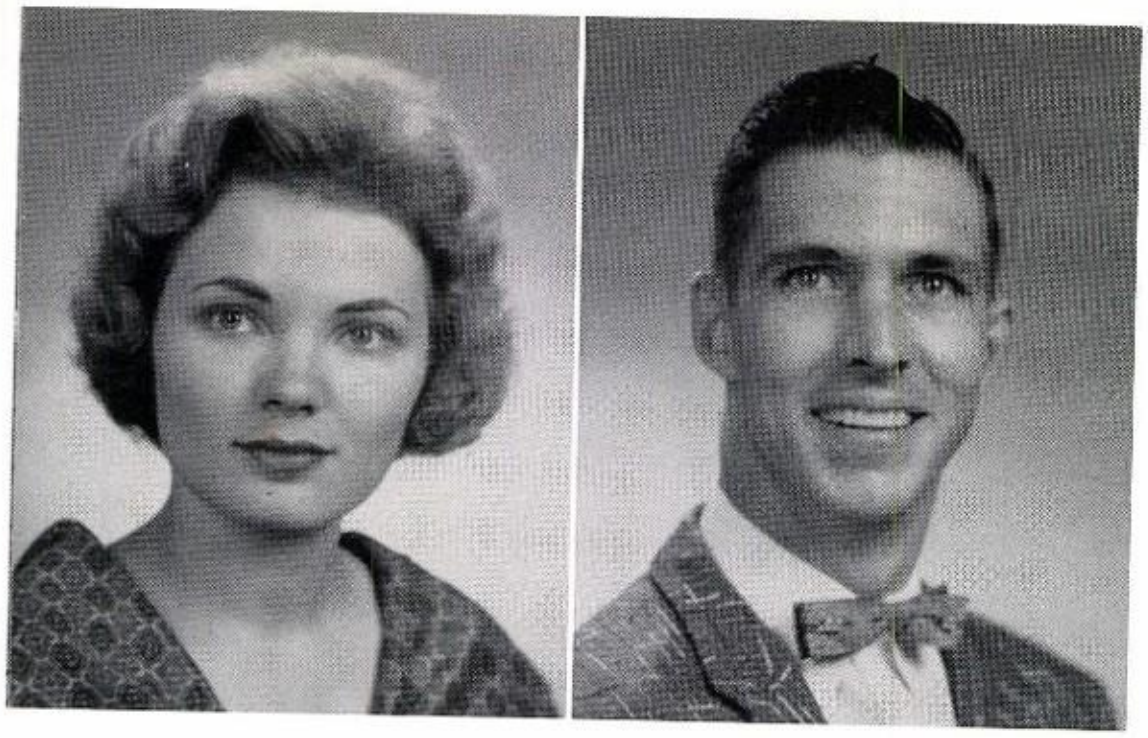
Amon N. Alford, who teaches chemistry, received his B.S. from Sam Houston State College. He also sponsors the Hi-Y.

Richard Smith and Mack Culpepper are deeply engrossed in measuring the angle of refraction of light through a piece of glass in a physics class.

Science Students Learn "How" and "Why"

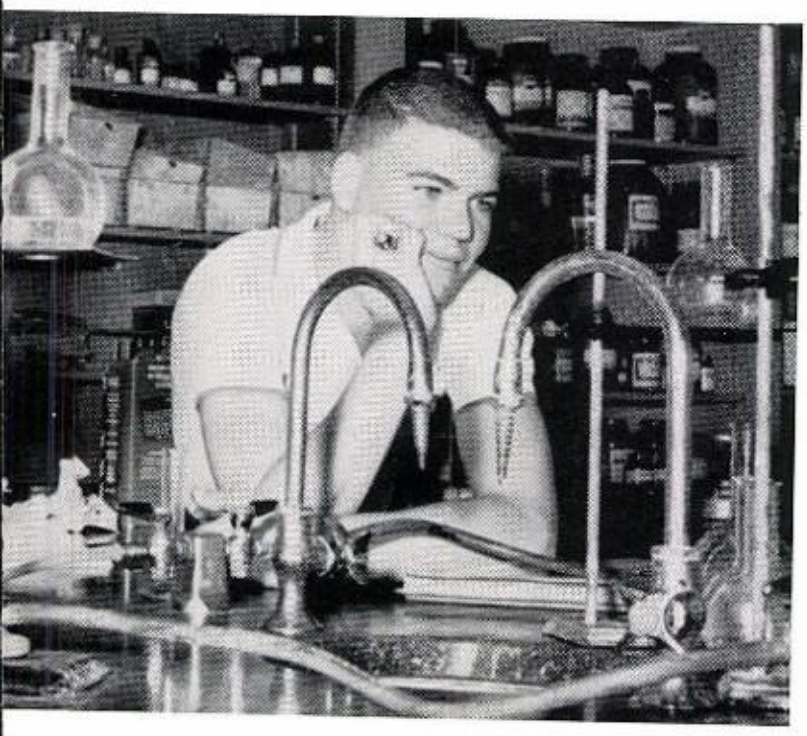
Jan Jackson and Judy Lutz are caught in the physics lab eyeing refractions of light through prisms.

Physics and chemistry today are two of the most active and important of all sciences. These are the sciences that tell the "how and why" of the nonliving world. They are concerned with matter and energy.



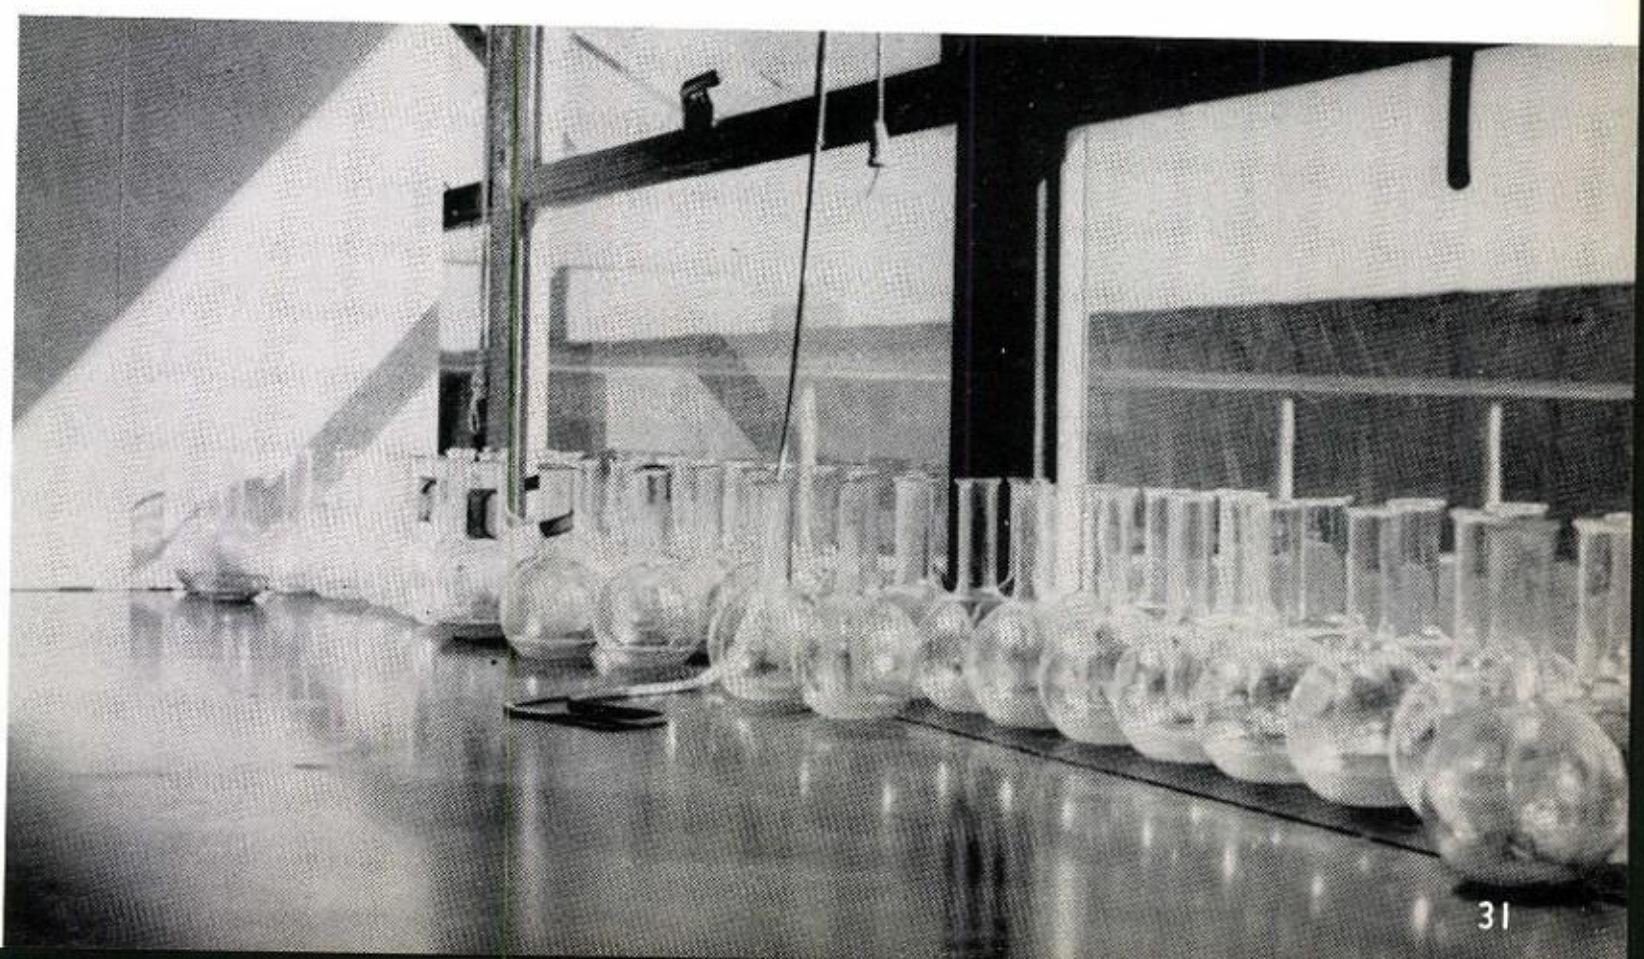
Mary L. Greer attended the University of Texas, where she acquired her B.S. degree. She teaches biology at South Houston.

Teaching biology and chemistry is the duty of Jimmy Walters. He obtained his B.A. and M.Ed. from North Texas State College.



Amidst all the equipment, Jimmy Johnson wonders, "Where do I begin?" as the chemistry classes prepare to make soap.

Eddie Clark busily mixes his formula for soap.



As the sun sinks slowly below the horizon, little boiling flasks that will some day hold soap sit in rows and await the next day's work.

Marion Edwards attended Sam Houston State College, North Texas State College, and the University of Houston and carries B.A. and M.Ed. degrees. Mrs. Edwards teaches Latin.

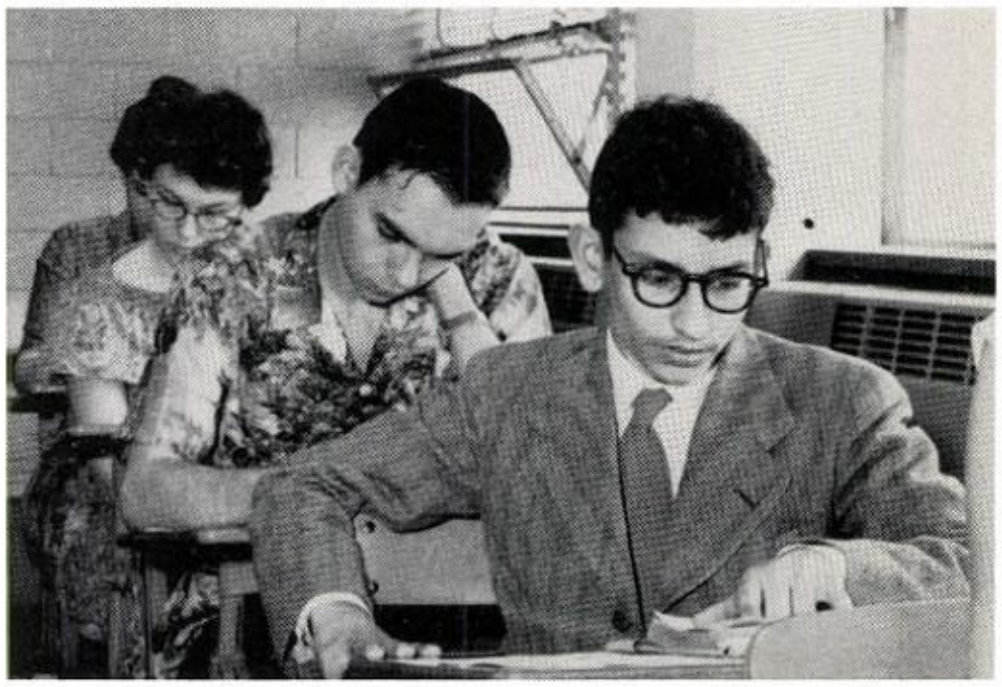
Miss Ethel Rettig, who is sponsor of the Spanish Club, graduated from Stephen F. Austin State College with a B.A. degree. She then received her M.A. from the University of Texas, and now teaches Spanish.

Miss Rettig looks admiringly at Rita Alvarado's original Spanish costume.

It may take quite a while to interpret that French magazine from a French-English dictionary. However, the pictures prove interesting to Sandy Cook, Susan High, and Larry Rucker.

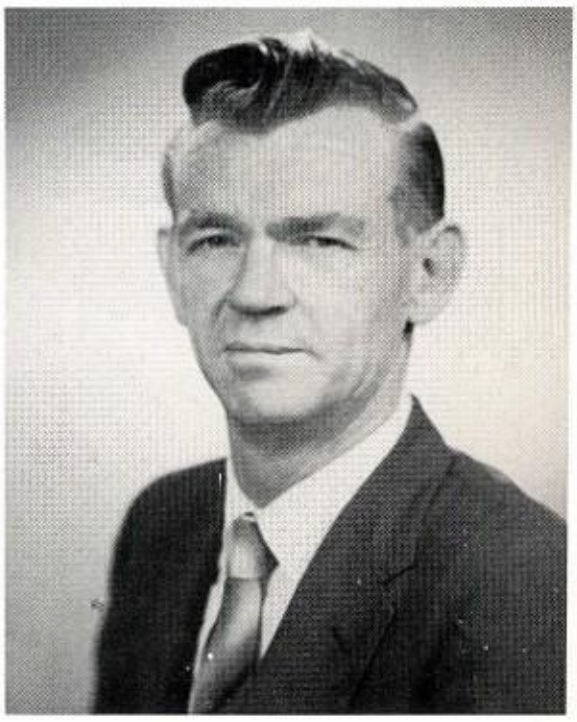
Become Apt Linguists

Every person learns to speak a native language. He may, at the same time, learn to speak a second language. This opportunity is given to South Houston students by the four foreign language courses offered. These are Spanish, French, Latin, and German. By studying a foreign language, a student develops a closeness to the foreign people and, thus, understands them and their country better.



Latin is no course to be taken lightly, as is shown by the intent concentration on a Latin story by Elliott Wheeler, Jeff Grimes, and Carolyn Chamblin.

Lothar Diess and Christelle Byrne display costumes, a pipe, and a miniature band obtained in Germany. Lothar is a native of Germany, and Christelle visited there during a European tour last summer.



Herman L. Grammer acquired his B.A. degree from Baylor University. He teaches English, French, and German. Mr. Grammer is sponsor of both the French and German Clubs.

Hanna Timmons, a graduate of the University of Houston with a B.A. degree, teaches speech, debate, and sophomore English. She also sponsors the debaters.

Pauline Williams, speech, drama, and senior English teacher, attended the Texas Women's University and the University of Houston, where she obtained her B.A. and M.Ed. degrees, respectively. She sponsors the Dramatics Club.

Pat Gaines gives a demonstration in speech class on how to apply make-up and set your hair. Bob Weathers is the charming model.

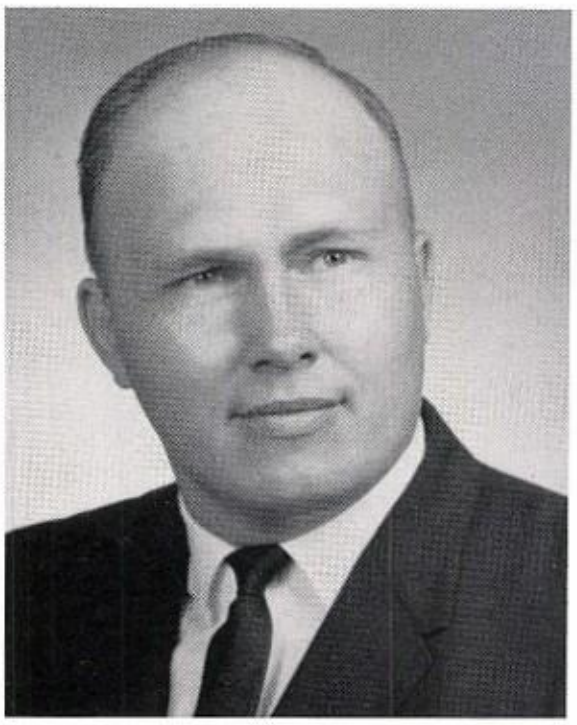
Speak the Speech, I Pray You . . .

Conversation, public speaking, debating, forum discussion, reading aloud, storytelling, and acting are all included in the act of speaking. Training in effective speaking is essential for leadership in any field of activity. The speech department of South Houston offers a well-rounded program including public speaking, drama, and debate.

Mrs. Timmons helps debaters Dale Wolf and Janet Jones find information on debate topics.

"Hmmm, I can't seem to remember my lines," ponders Norwood Mortensen as he is prompted by Margaret Parker.

Commercial Education . . .



FTA sponsor Charles W. Thomas is a graduate of Sam Houston State College with a B.B.A. degree. As head of the commercial department, Mr. Thomas teaches typing and bookkeeping.

Commercial education at South Houston includes all instruction designed to fit students for engaging in business. The subjects offered are typewriting, stenography, bookkeeping, office practice, and commercial law. Upon completion of these courses a student is ready to enter the business world with a broader intelligence, more mature judgment, and a more highly specialized skill, all of which are prerequisites for a job in the field of business.

A second year typing class listens intently to instructions before beginning the day's job.

Trains Students for Careers

Hollie Koehler received her B.B.A. and M.Ed. degrees from Baylor University, respectively. She teaches typing and business machines.

Dorothene Burnam attended North Texas State University and Sam Houston State College, where she obtained her B.B.A. degree. Mrs. Burnham, new at South Houston this year, teaches typing and stenography.

Students are not the only ones to need help! Julie Benson and Linda Wehmeyer make use of the business machines while averaging a teacher's grades.

Working hard to keep their ledgers up-to-date are Patsy Watts and Janet Shafer. This is part of the daily job of each bookkeeping student.

in the Business World

Charles Thomas, a determined winner, peers wonderingly into the room of contest judges at typing contest for District 12AAAA.

Kristi Freeburg laughingly questions Liz McKinney's position in the race for expert stenographer.

Sponsor of Tri-Hi-Y, Barbara Adams teaches stenography and typing at South Houston. She is a graduate of Sam Houston State College and holds a B.B.A. degree.

Janice Schultz puts her knowledge of the alphabet to use in office practice.

Dorothy Morgan has a B.S. degree from Delta State College in OleeLand, Mississippi. Mrs. Morgan teaches typing, commercial law, and office practice.

Peggy Brown and Frances Brown work diligently on a mural made by art students for the office.

Art Is Long, Life Is Short

Study of art at South Houston High School includes not only drawing but art appreciation as well. The purpose is neither to make artists of all students nor to develop high artistic skill, but to aid the powers of observation and encourage drawing as the language for the expression of ideas.

Jean A. Buchanan, who received her B.S. degree from the University of Houston, teaches art and Spanish. She also sponsors the Art Club.

Pam Bailey and Emily Hubby beautify the cafeteria with decorations prepared by the art department for the Valentine Party.

Joyce Ghormley, a graduate of South Texas State College with B.S. and M.Ed. degrees, directs the girls' choir, boys' choir, and A Cappella choir for concerts, programs, and contests.

Mrs. Ghormley helps C. B. Teel familiarize himself with the choir's music. Mr. Teel took over at mid-term due to Mrs. Ghormley's leave of absence.

Preparing the band for football games and contest occupies most of Tommy J. Gorsuch's time. He received his B.S. and M.Ed. from North Texas State College and Southern College of Fine Arts.

Music Makes the World Go Round

Music is the universal language of mankind, and making the musical sounds around South Houston are the bands and choirs. The primary goal of these classes is to enable the student to express his talents and communicate music to others.

The first orchestra students of South Houston High School practice diligently to become the musicians of tomorrow.

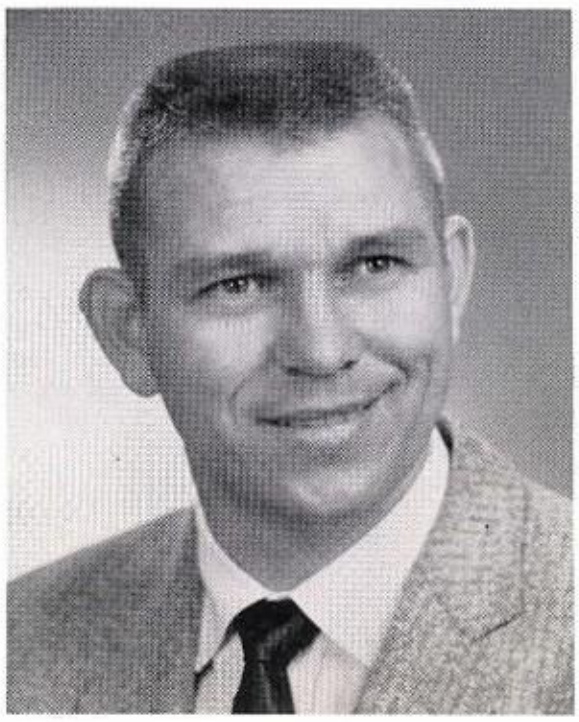
Products Prove Quality of David Garner, Ronnie Decker, Harry Porter, and Tony DeLeon put the finishing touches on a woodshop product.

Although woodshop courses do not try to teach a vocation, they give the boys valuable experience in purchasing supplies and in learning to recognize and appreciate craftsmanship. By actual participation they learn how to handle tools and follow plans.



Jesse D. McKinney, woodshop teacher, received his B.S. degree from the University of Houston. Along with taking care of the textbooks, the auditorium, and visual aid equipment, he is head of Junior Achievement at South Houston.

Vocational Skill

"Looks too good to eat!" exclaim third period home economics girls.

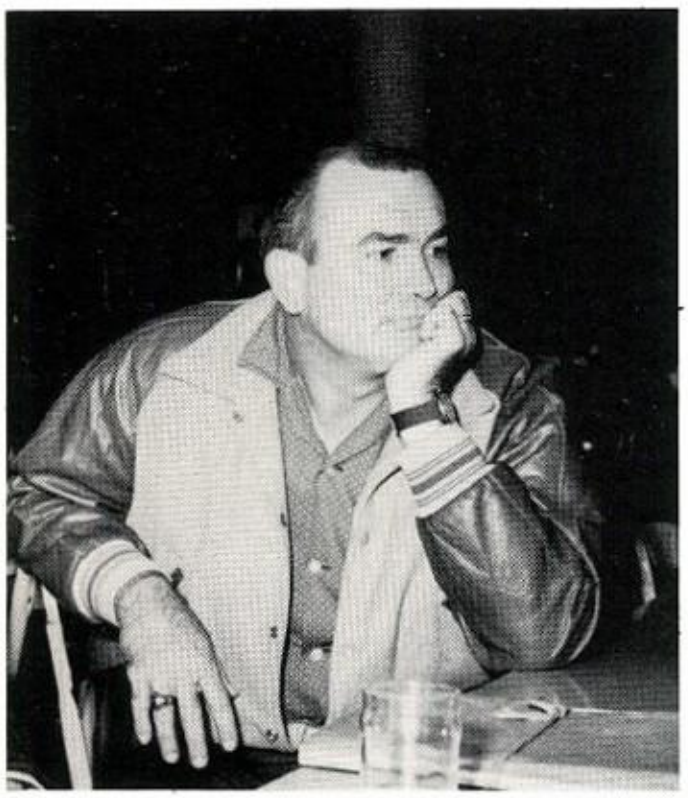
Making the home a happy and comfortable place to live is an art and science. Success in homemaking requires broad knowledge and skill in managing and doing things. The home economics program at South Houston includes the study of personality growth, family relationships, child growth and development, money and home management, food and nutrition, clothing, and care of equipment. It unifies knowledge from many fields in solving home-life problems.

Jewel Cloninger, one of the co-sponsors of F.H.A., received her B.A. from the University of Houston.

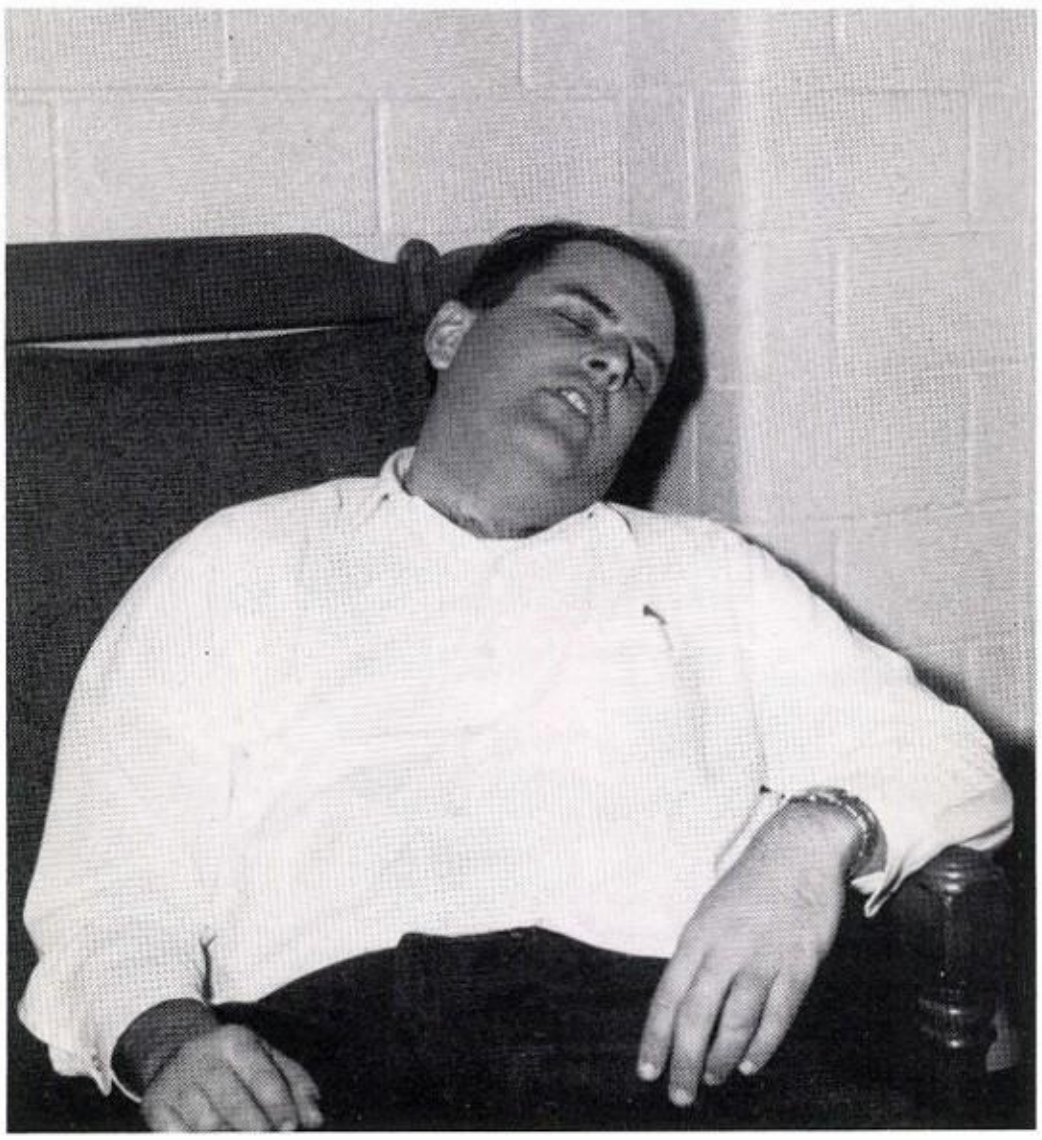
Annette Daigle, who received her B.S. from Sam Houston State College, is also a sponsor of the F.H.A. Both teachers always assist whenever any activities call for the homemaking touch.

"You did a real nice job on this zipper, Dixie," comments Lounell Forbus to Dixie MacSlarrow. "I can't get it open!"

Coffee breaks are as popular among teachers as they are among office workers—at least Mrs. Crumpler, Mrs. Baucum, Mrs. Ghormley, Mr. Horne, and Mrs. Burnam seem to think so!



"Problems, problems," muses Coach Acuff. Can it already be another "blue Monday morning"?



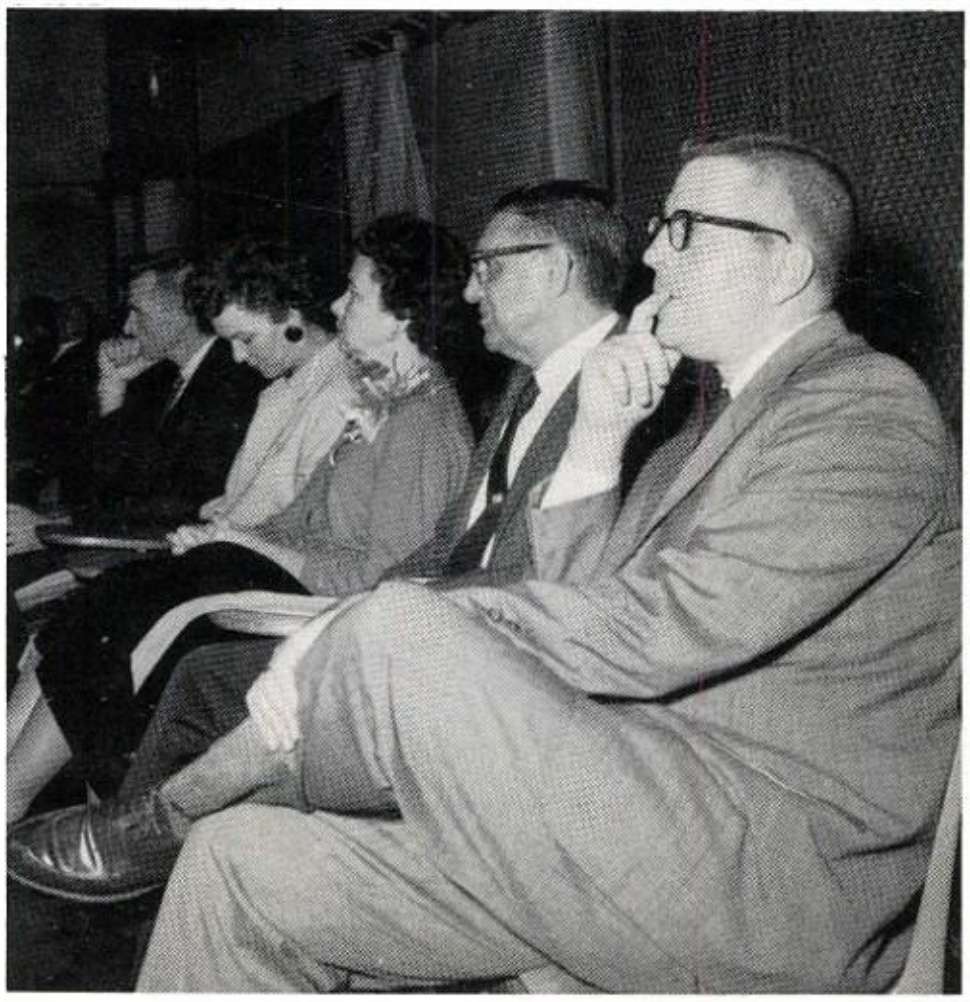
Mr. Knebel must have had a rough day! He really takes advantage of those "off periods."

Take a Peek Behind the Scenes

Much planning and work go into a teacher's school day. Although there is much more involved in teaching students than just presenting facts and grading papers, teachers still find time for coffee breaks, meditation, or even a nap!

What is Mr. Walters doing with that box marked "HANDLE WITH CARE"? He looks rather suspicious.

"No one allowed in this hall!" and commands of "Shhhh!" greet students on faculty meeting mornings. Here Mrs. Cloninger gives the results of the nutrition survey.



Mr. Birdsong seems really involved in the assembly program. Perhaps it is a tense moment.

Today's World Inspires Physical Fitness

Jeanne Smith, who teaches junior girls' P.E., received her B.S. degree from North Texas State College and her M.Ed. degree from the University of Houston. She also works with GRA.

Through a planned program of participation in sports, the girls of South Houston High School learn to work and play together as members of a unit. Activities include softball, basketball, volleyball, rhythmical exercises, ping pong, rings, and archery.

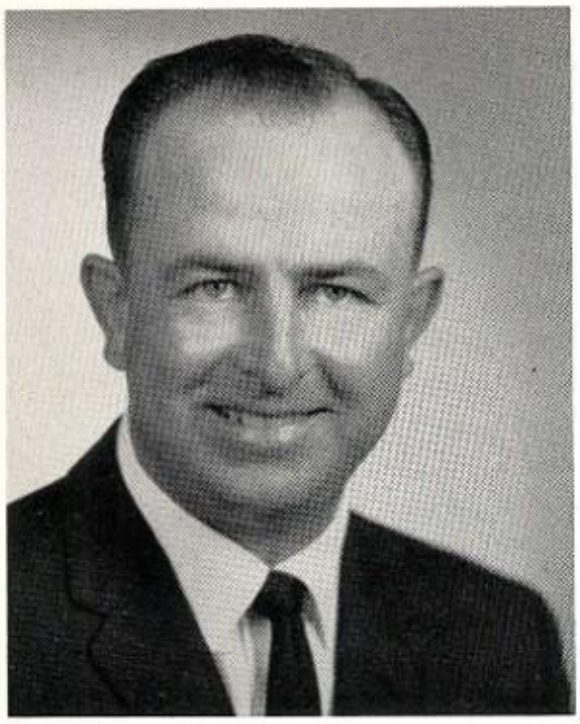
Health education includes a general health plan for sophomores, first aid for juniors, and home nursing for seniors.

"Isn't that a darling boy in chemistry class?" exclaims Rose Lynn Collier to Janeen Blair and Phillis Boulter as the game continues.

"Rock forward, rock backward, release arms, and repeat," chant juniors demonstrating artificial respiration learned in first aid class.

Katheryn Jones attended Whitworth College in Mississippi and received her B.S. and M.Ed degrees from the University of Houston. Mrs. Jones sponsors the Spartaniers.

Eloise Savell, senior girls' P.E. teacher, received her B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from North Texas State College. Miss Savell is junior class co-sponsor and works with GRA and the girls' tennis team.

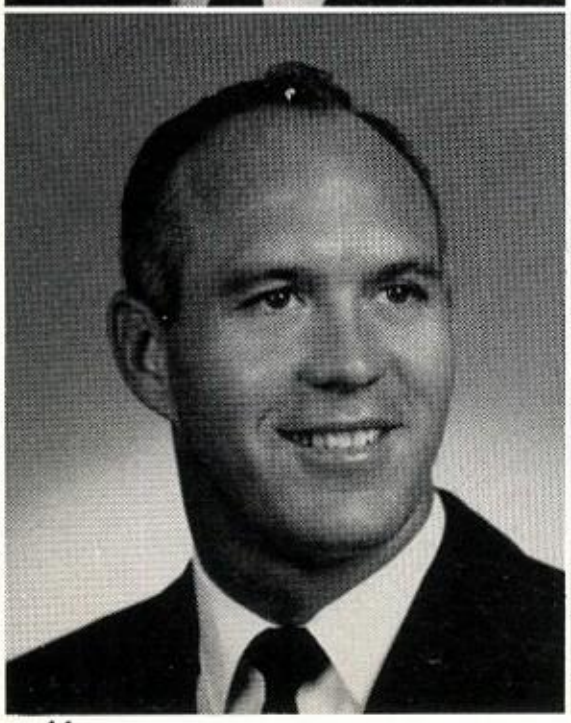


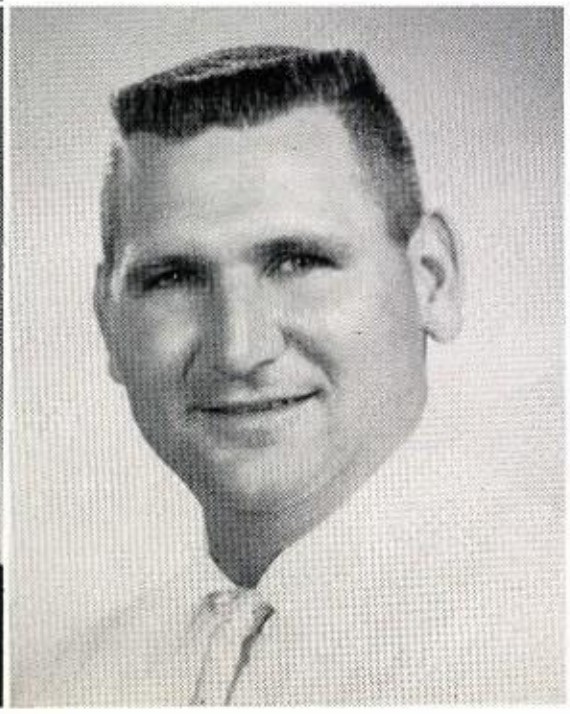
Head football coach Harry Morgan attended the University of Houston and received his B.S. and M.S. degrees there. He also teaches senior P.E.

Physical education forms an important part of the modern program of general education. Effective fitness programs include many activities rather than stressing only one. The program at South Houston High includes physical activities and sports of all kinds designed to improve posture, physical development, and general fitness and health. In addition it provides fun and recreation. Sportsmanship and varsity competition are also emphasized along with desirable personality traits and character qualities.

P.E. Plays an Important Part in School Program

Gerald Meyer, head track and football varsity line coach and sophomore P.E. teacher, received his B.S. degree from Baylor University.

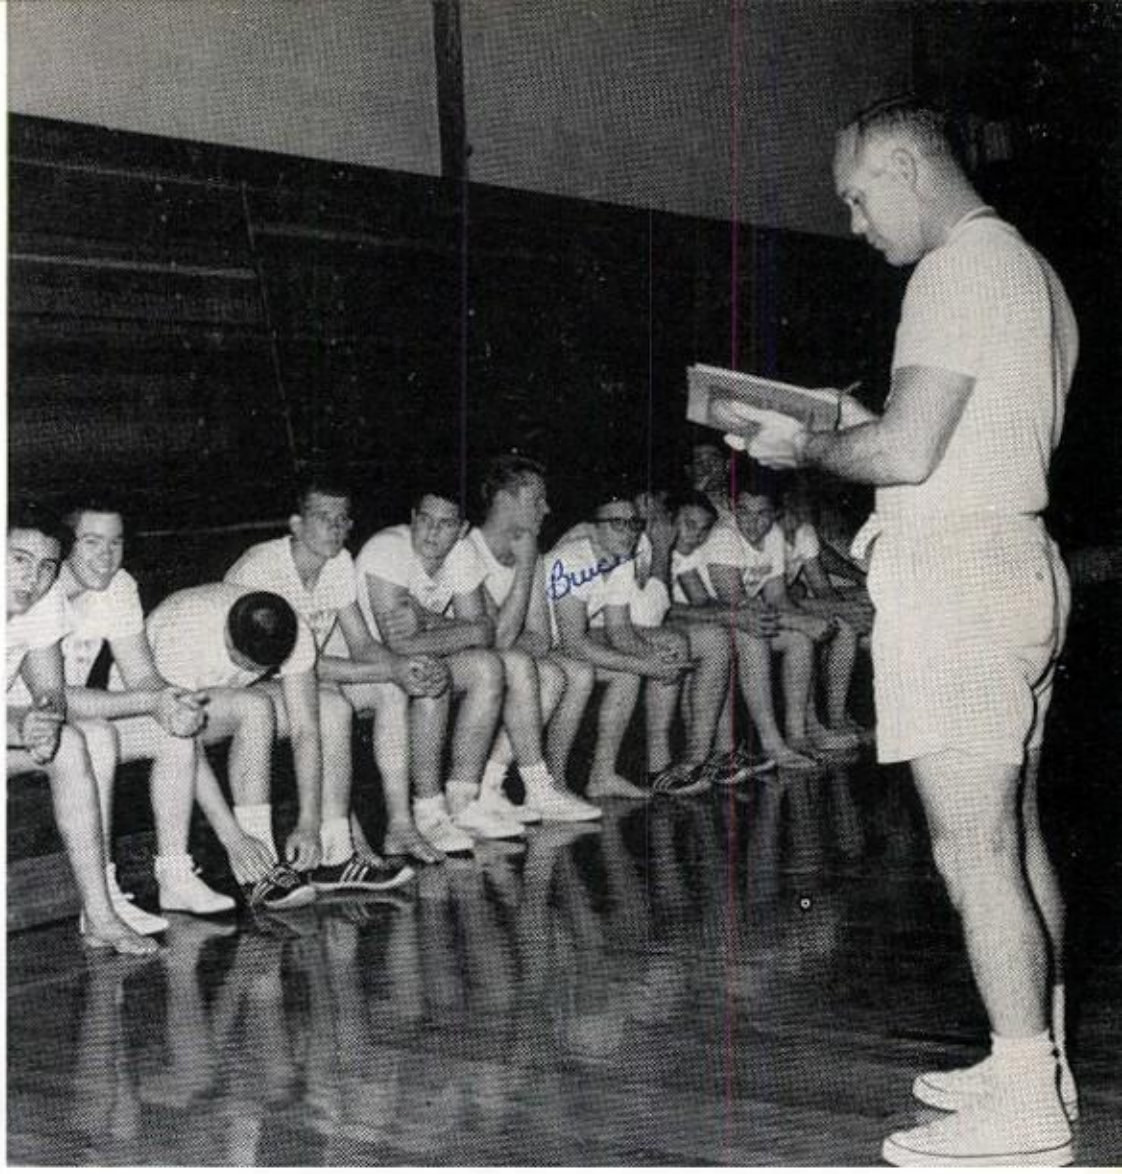




James McNeil, defensive backfield football coach who teaches junior P.E., obtained his B.S. and M.Ed. from the University of Houston. He is also CSU sponsor.

Maurice Gillioz, who received his B.S. degree from the University of Houston, is football defensive line coach and B team basketball coach. He also teaches biology.

"Sit down and get quiet, boys!" is Coach McNeil's daily order for roll call.

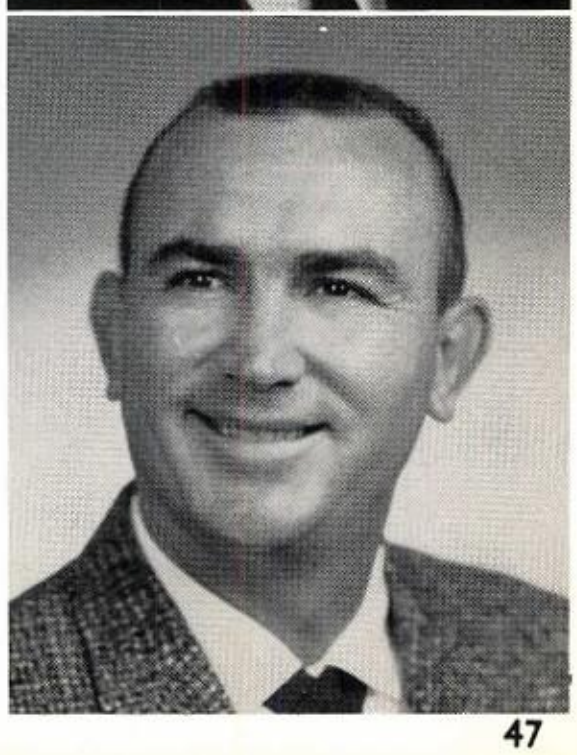


A great part of J.V. football coach and assistant track coach James Barber's school day involves teaching drivers' training.

Part of basketball coach William Graeber's duties is teaching applied math.

Robert Caulk, baseball and J.V. coach, attended Texas A&I where he received his B.S. degree. Coach Caulk also teaches American history.

Tommy Acuff, football B team coach and drivers' training teacher, received his B.S. degree from South Texas State College and his M.Ed. from Sam Houston State College.

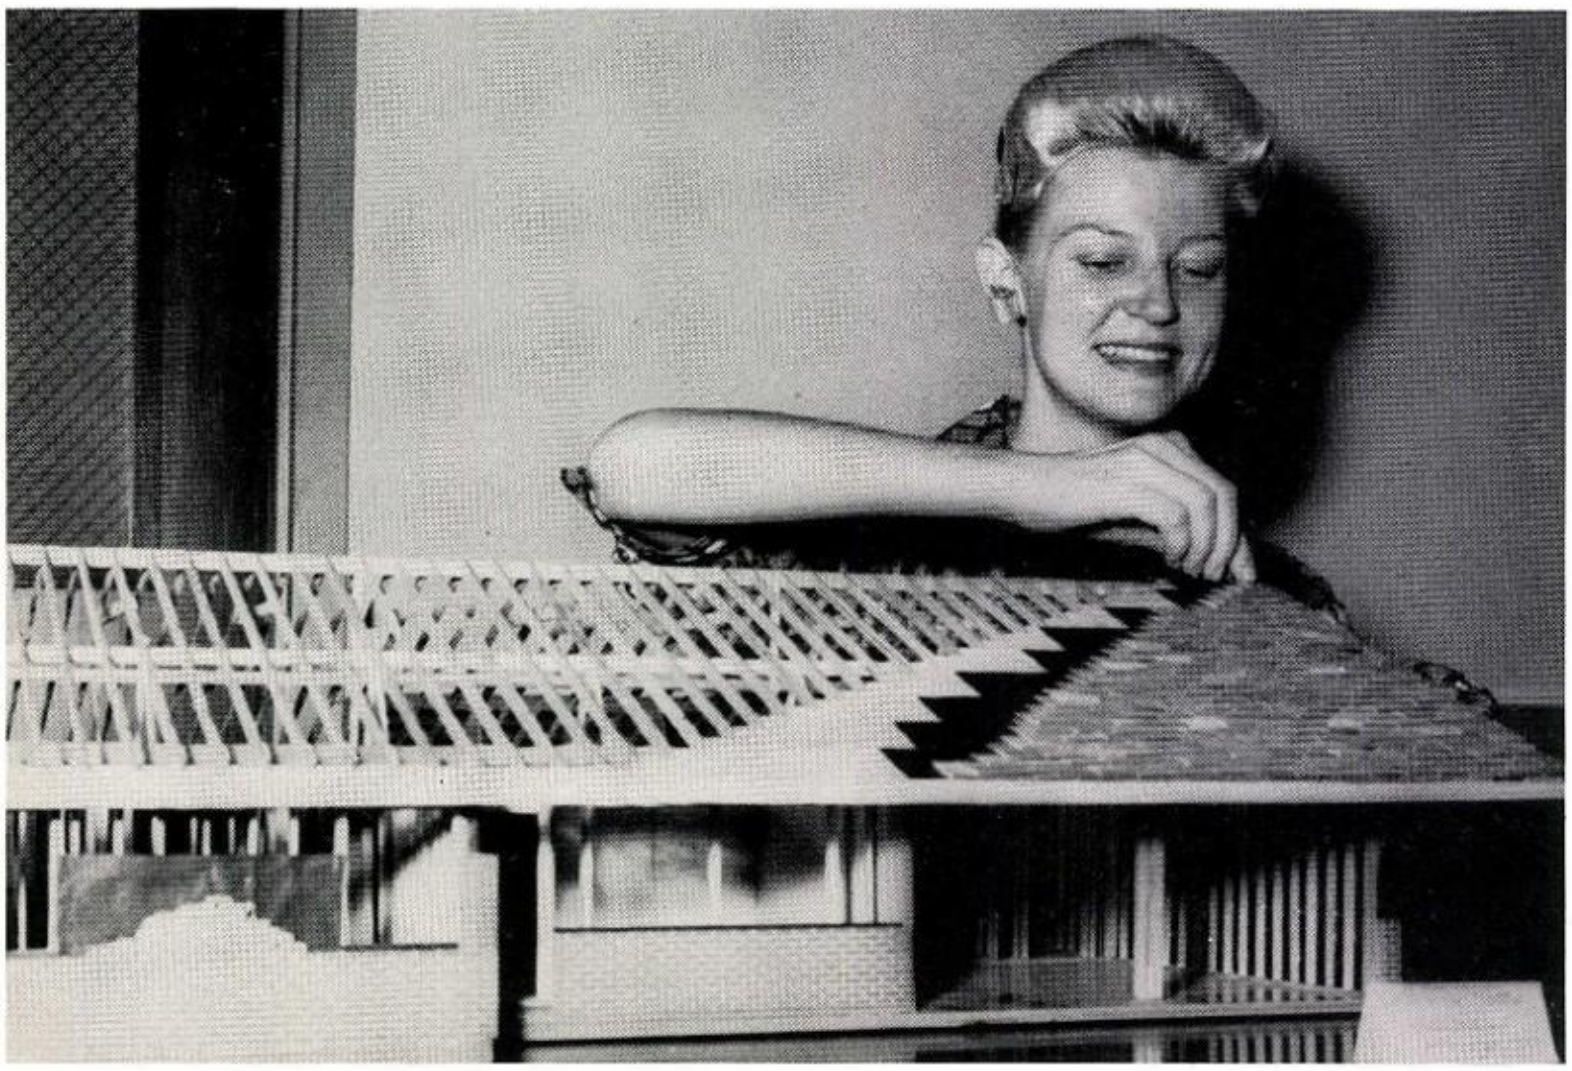


Industrial Arts Offer

Mechanical drawing consists of a thorough knowledge of floor plans, elevations, perspectives, and fasteners. When a student has completed all mechanical drawing subjects offered at South Houston, he should have a good foundation for a further study of architecture or engineering.

Three heads are better than one thinks Jim Stutzman in deep meditation over a problem encountered in mechanical drawing. Consultants are William Walters and Mike Walker.

James H. Fritsch, a graduate of Sam Houston State College with a B.S. degree, teaches mechanical drawing. He also sponsors the Racket Club.

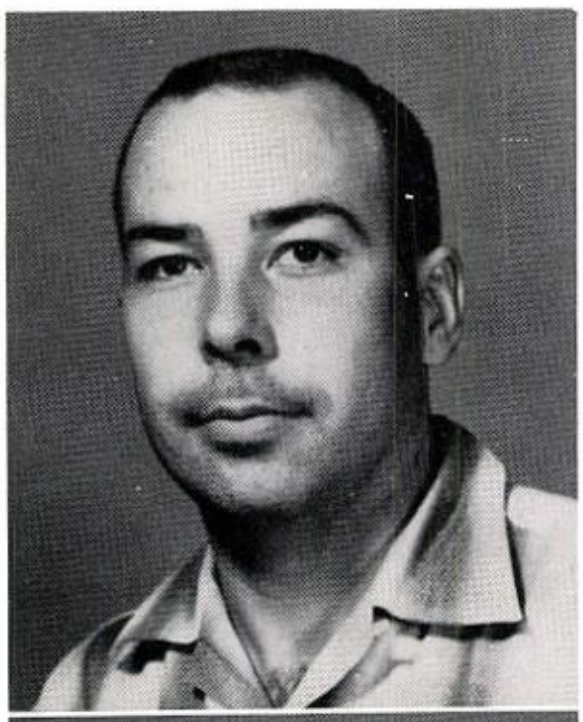


"Just 8,003 more shingles to go!" exclaims Dennis Pettis as she puts on the final touches on her term project in mechanical drawing.

Variety of Trades

Although agriculture is the oldest and most important of human occupations, the use of scientific knowledge and training in the pursuit of agriculture is a relatively recent development. At South Houston the students get a working knowledge of farm life and farm enterprises by entering livestock shows and participating in judging contests for plants, livestock, and meat.

Ralph Sheram and Gene Sollock relax after a hard day's work.



Ralph Sheram, teacher of vocational agriculture and co-sponsor of FFA, received his B.S. degree from Sam Houston State College.

Gene Sollock acquired his B.S. and M.Ed. from Sam Houston State College. Along with teaching vocational agriculture, he is co-sponsor of FFA.

What Would You Like to Know?

Like a giant brain that remembers all that scientists, historians, poets, and philosophers have thought and learned, the library makes this knowledge available to each student of South Houston High School. This year 600 new books have been added. At present the library subscribes to five newspapers, seventy-five periodicals, has seven different encyclopedias, and has over 6,600 books, or ten books per student. For the benefit of the student body the library is open each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon for afternoon study.

Librarian Margaret Rose Lodge received her B.A. and B.S. from Rice University and North Texas State College respectively. Besides her many duties as librarian she also sponsors the Library Club and the National Honor Society.

Muriel McCarley, who is new here this year, assists both in the library and the attendance office.

Bill Marsh and Nancy Winkler sign into the library to check out books for reports.

"Look under the subject heading to find material for your research paper," explains Sally Roberts to Douglas DeLong.

James Beezley assists Coach Meyer and Nurse Roberts in checking eyes at the beginning of school.

ermelle Roberts, registered nurse, at-nded the University of Houston and e University of Texas. She spon-rs the Medical Careers Club.

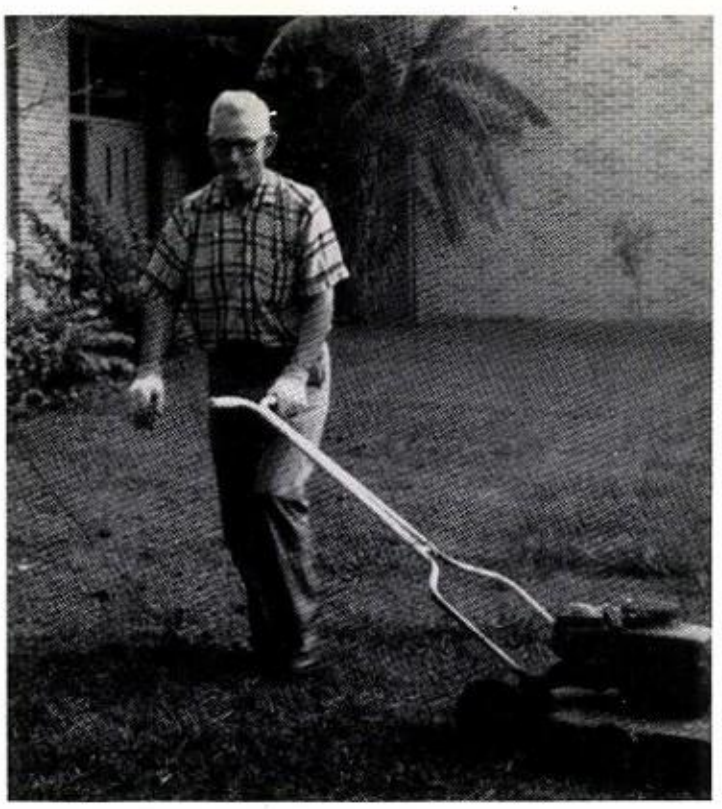
Even the Healthiest Students Sometimes Need First-Aid

Teaching students and their families about proper diet, personal cleanliness, and other ways of preventing illness is the job of the school nurse. She also takes part in many community projects, such as polio-vaccination and chest X-ray campaigns. The clinic is a place to aid students in cases of sudden illness and to administer first aid.

a Mae McClaugherty is General rk for the Nursing Department.

Sandra McCullough, one of the girls that help in the clinic, prepares to bandage a skinned knee.

Presley Wilson, Neuton Chapman, Oliver Nelson and Floyd Skelton help keep South Houston a place to be proud of each day.

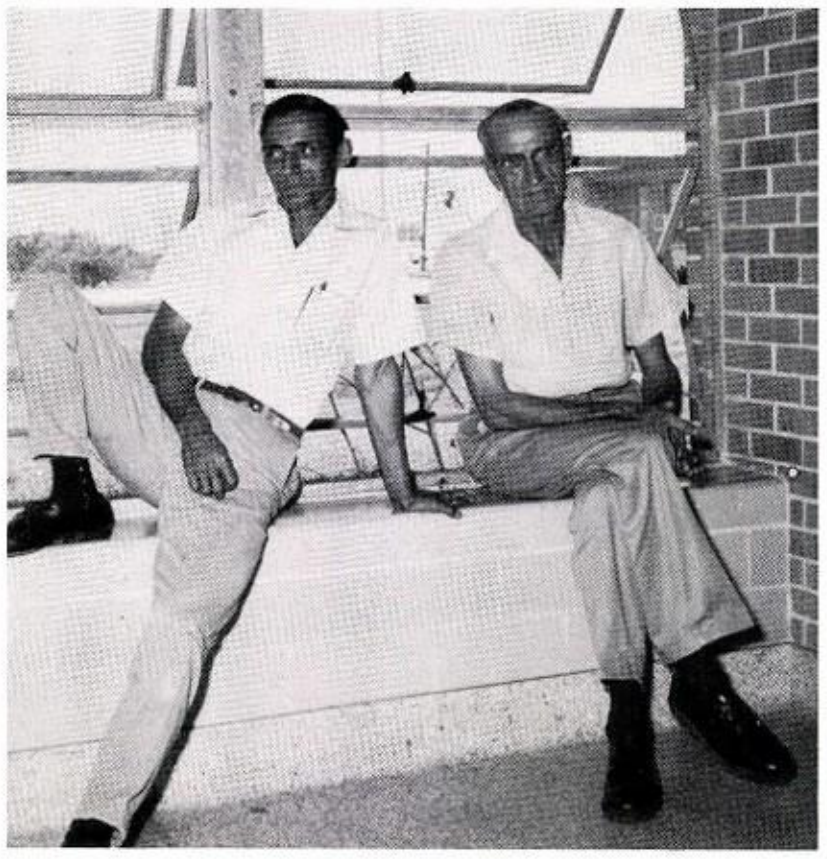


Claude Hooper is head custodian and is always ready to lend a hand.

Workers Keep Buildings and Grounds Orderly

With a student body and faculty as large as South Houston's, the task of keeping the school building and grounds looking attractive is a great one. The custodians and the matron play an important part in the maintenance of the school's appearance.

Marguerite Ashabranner is the school matron.



Lee Cronin and Loyd Barrett take a rest after a hard day's work.

Savory Smells Tempt Appetities

Cafeteria workers, well trained in preparing a well-balanced meal, combine their efforts to produce attractive and appetizing dishes.

Leora Roller is the manager of the cafeteria workers.

Peeling many potatoes is an everyday task for Esther Cannon, Lessie Pursley, Anna Bell Tumlinson, Ruby Kruse, and Thelma McReynolds.

Sindy Edwards, Drusilla Latimer, Florance Richter, and Irene Fields enjoy fixing desserts.

Those delicious little rolls are prepared by Leona Reed, Irene Roberts, and Greta Moore.

"Five hundred hamburgers coming up!" declare Vera Mitchell and Edith Krajcik.

Let us be up and doing . . . Longfellow

ACTIVITIES

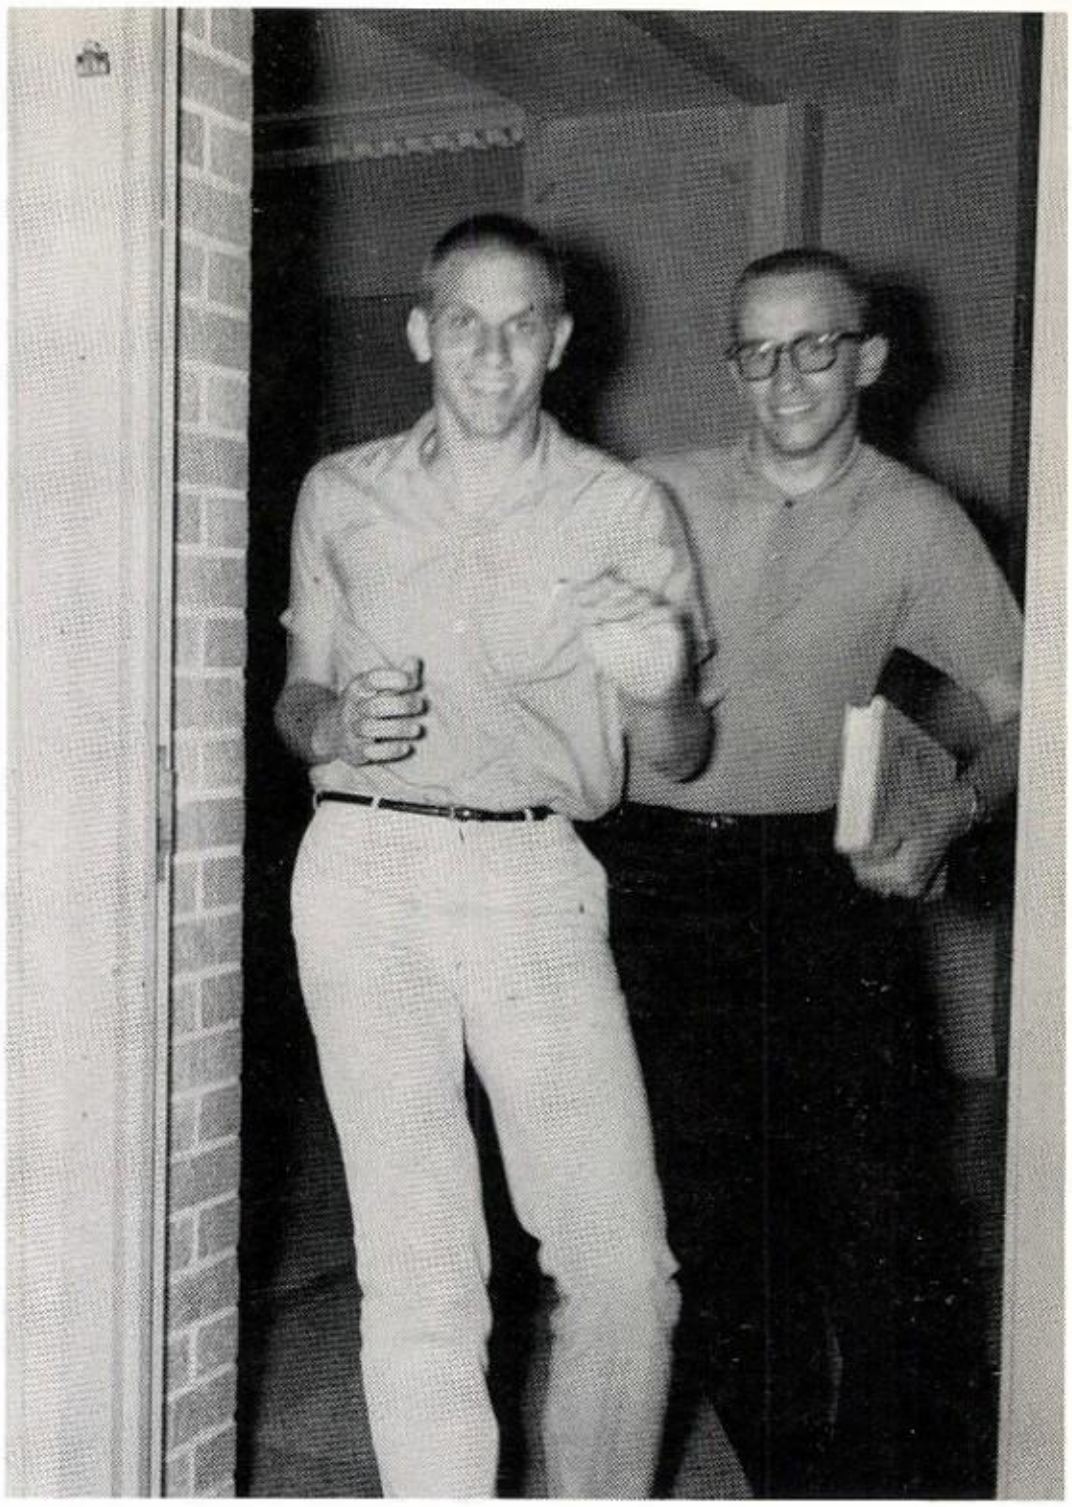
Students anxiously await the morning bell that means the beginning of the first day.

Pedestrians beware! The race begins! Lana Lary, Glenda Hinson, and Vickie Berman are ready to begin the race to classes.

Sophomores have a rough time the first few days of school getting used to the Trojan tradition.

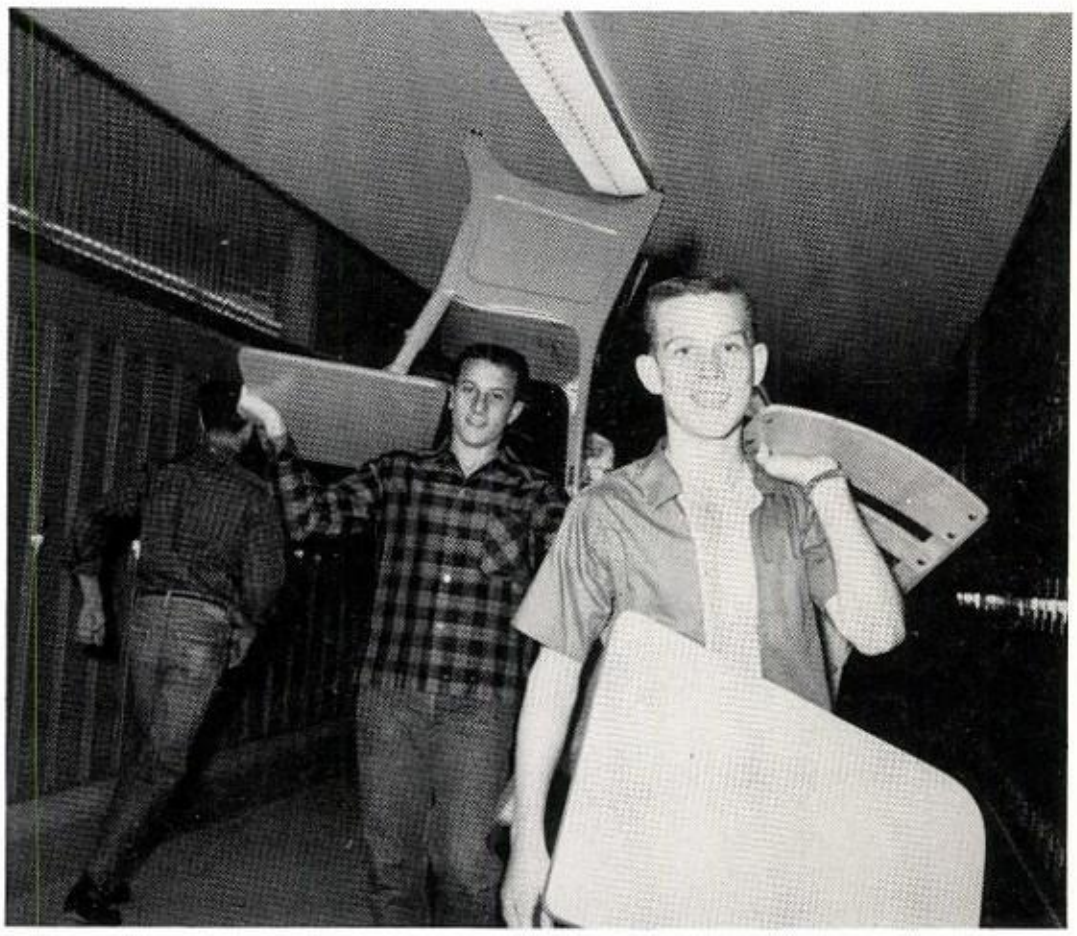
"I Can't Believe That Summer's Already Gone"

Suddenly September was here, bringing with it the first days of school. How hard it was for some students, after taking it easy all summer, to get back into the routine of classes and homework, but how good it was to see everyone again! Thirteen hundred Trojans started the school year of 1961-1962.



What's this? Late to class already? It seems as if Pat Cerrone and Wayne Baily just can't get back on schedule.

One of the exciting events of the first few weeks of school was the arrival of the fiberglass Trojan, given by the senior class of 1961.



Dewitt Lang and Richard Pearson find that the first few days are always confusing as they gather up extra desks from overcrowded classes.

Football Is

Mr. Teague welcomes Trojan Exes back for the homecoming game with Texas City.

An old tradition—enthusiastic cheerleaders lead students in yells at the Baytown pep rally.

A new tradition? Senior girls showed quite a bit of school spirit before the Pasadena football game when about twenty of them rode bicycles decorated with red and white streamers to school and then home again.

Center of Activity in Fall

Everyone loves a football game. In the fall pep rallies, homecoming, ribbon sales, the marching band, and the cheerleaders all become the center of activities. Throughout the 1961 season Trojan spirit was high with the "Big Red" winning four games and losing six.

Just what do they serve to drink at football banquets? Robert Cooper, Dennis McFadden, and Jimmy Shank seem to be enjoying themselves.

Volunteers from the Trojan band added much pep and enthusiasm to morning rallies.

Trojan backers turned out in large numbers at football games no matter what the score happened to be.

Through All Kinds of Weather School Must Go on . . .

Rainy weather gives Bob Borchardt an opportunity to prove to Connie Schmerler that chivalry is not yet dead!

Denaha Graves and Carolyn Loper are fighting the old battle—humidity vs. hairdo.

Pat Monroe and Gwen Donowho are blown in by violent wind and rain.

Except During Carla's Fury

Brenda Terwilliger and Sandra Brooks entertain hurricane refugees during Carla's visit.

Mr. Teague and Red Cross workers kept South Houston's doors open to anyone wishing to seek shelter.

Unaware of the danger, this baby sleeps soundly through the height of the wind and rain.

School spirit is unaffected by the weather! Cheerleaders, band members, and spectators brought along raincoats and umbrellas and supported the Trojan team.

Talent Shows and Assemblies Reveal Hidden

"Say, man, is my case up next?" Billy Francis is all in favor of integration!

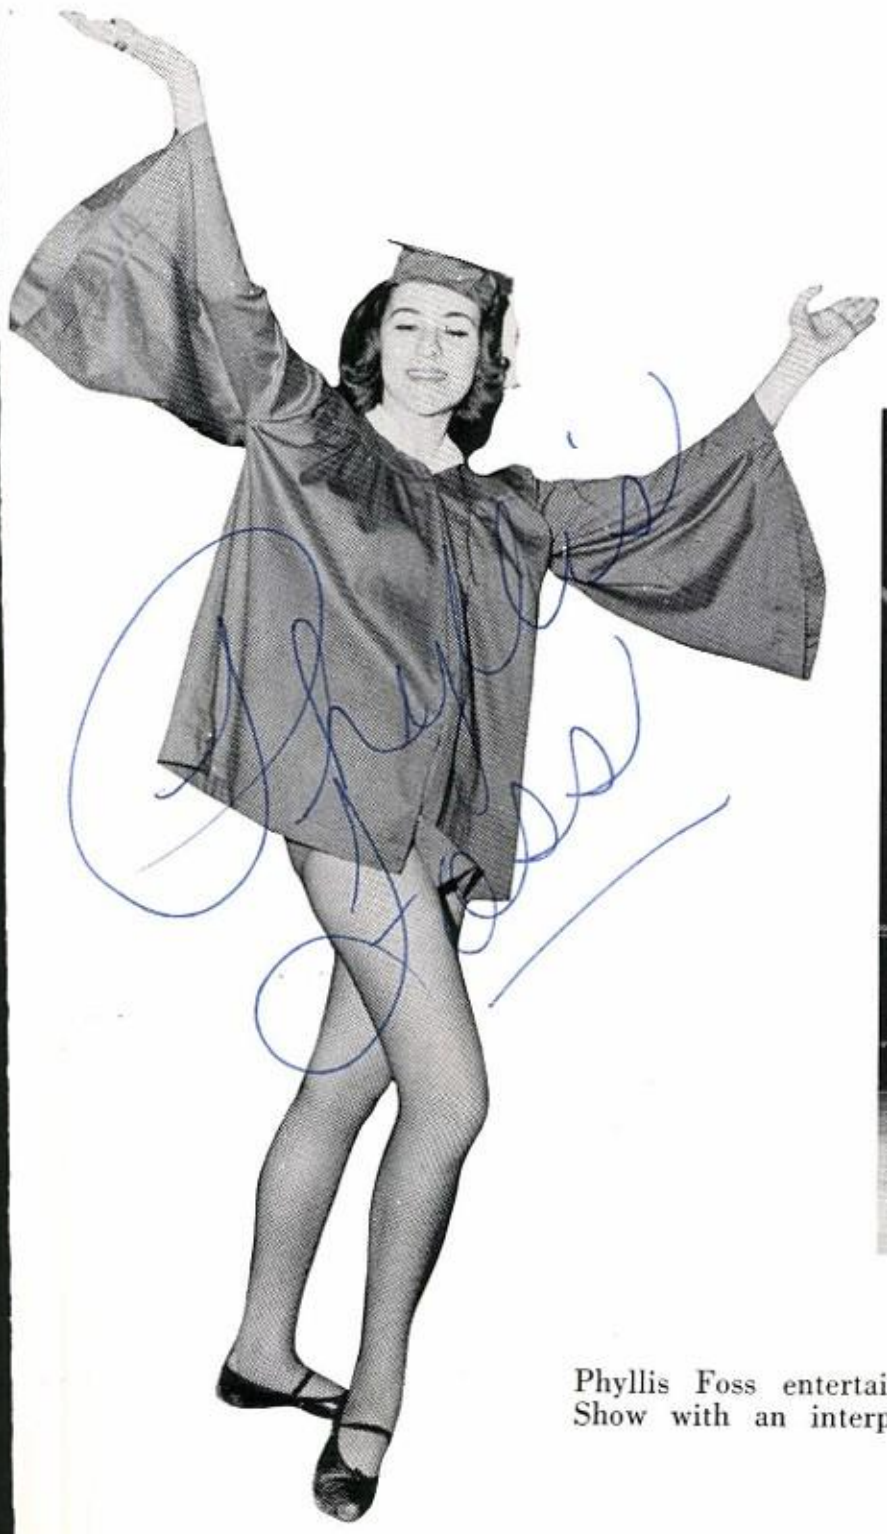
Several assemblies and talent shows put on by various organizations around South Houston brought out the best in many students. The Torch staff's paid, all-school assembly was a great success (slightly relieving the Torch debt!). Hank Wolff and the Classics, Junior Warner, a can-can, several dances, and The Sisty Uglers (alias male members of the Torch staff who refused to pose for a picture) were star attractions. Later the choirs sponsored a talent show in which various other schools participated, bringing talent from near and far. The choirs also sponsored an assembly during school.

Hank Wolff and Junior Warner, backed up by the Classics, had everyone "rocking and rolling" at the Torch talent show. From the screams it would have led one to believe Elvis was in town!

The Boone Girls were hilarious in their pantomime of the "Great Pretender" and "Rock Island Line" at the choir talent show.

Abilities

Choir boys just "Gotta Have Heart!" Boys dressed as football and baseball players gave their interpretation of this old favorite.



Phyllis Foss entertained at the Torch Talent Show with an interpretative dance.

The Hungry Five Plus One (but don't count them) play New Orleans jazz and do a very good job of it.

FFA and FHA prepare to decorate for Christmas as Mr. Teague helps Douglas Moore, Nancy Stock, and Linda McHalffey unload greenery.

Senior girls gather at Christmas with the spirit of giving. Phillis Boulter seems a little curious as to what Marian Dodge is opening.

Dudley,
It sure was a ball last year. I'm sure Dramatics this year will be even greater! You have a lot to offer the world. Keep your great smile & you'll go far. Lots of luck to a great guy!
Love,
Terrie Hendricks

Cowgirls Martha McClain, Susan Schoenstein, Ann Berger, Sue Poole, and Terrie Hendricks get into the swing of things at Rodeo time.

In March over 350 juniors took the National Merit Scholarship Test.

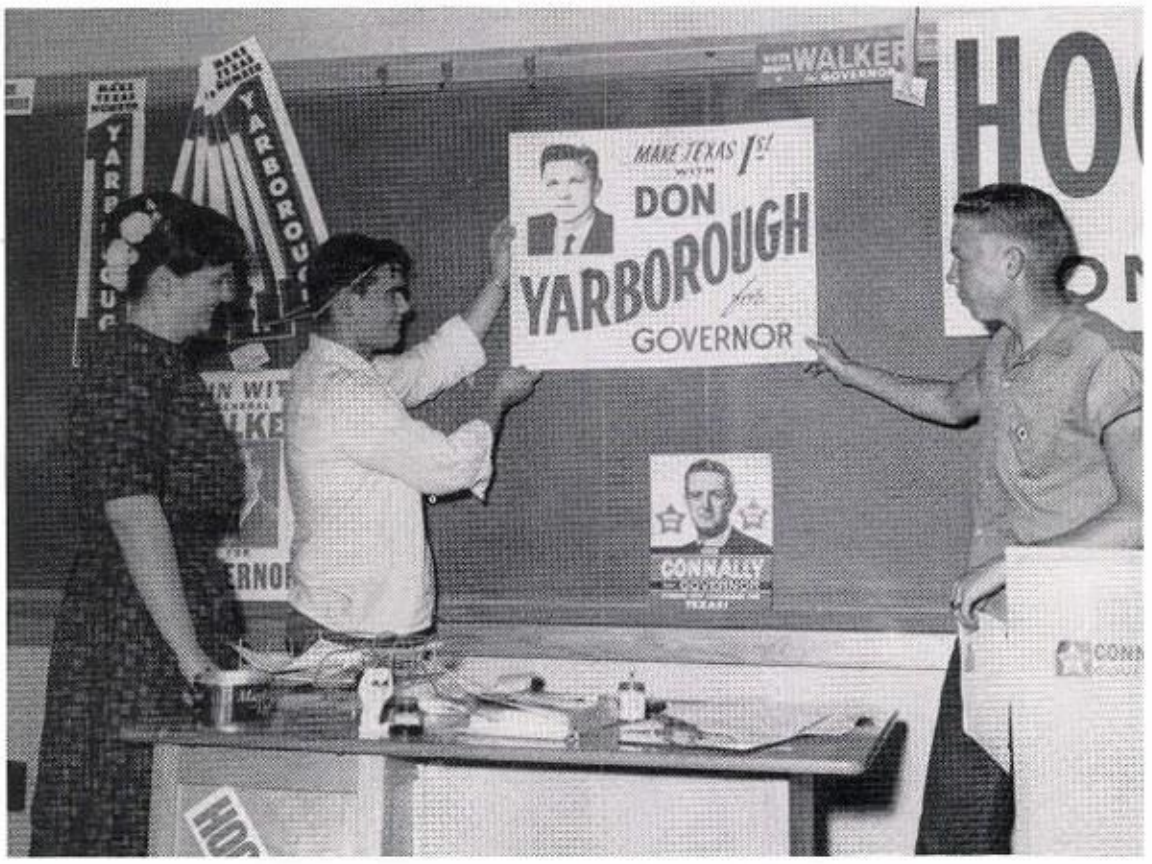
S.H.H.S. Students Are Involved in Various Activities

Future Farmers took over cafeteria duties during the annual FFA and FHA Barbecue. Wayne Bailey looks as if he hates to be caught in the kitchen.

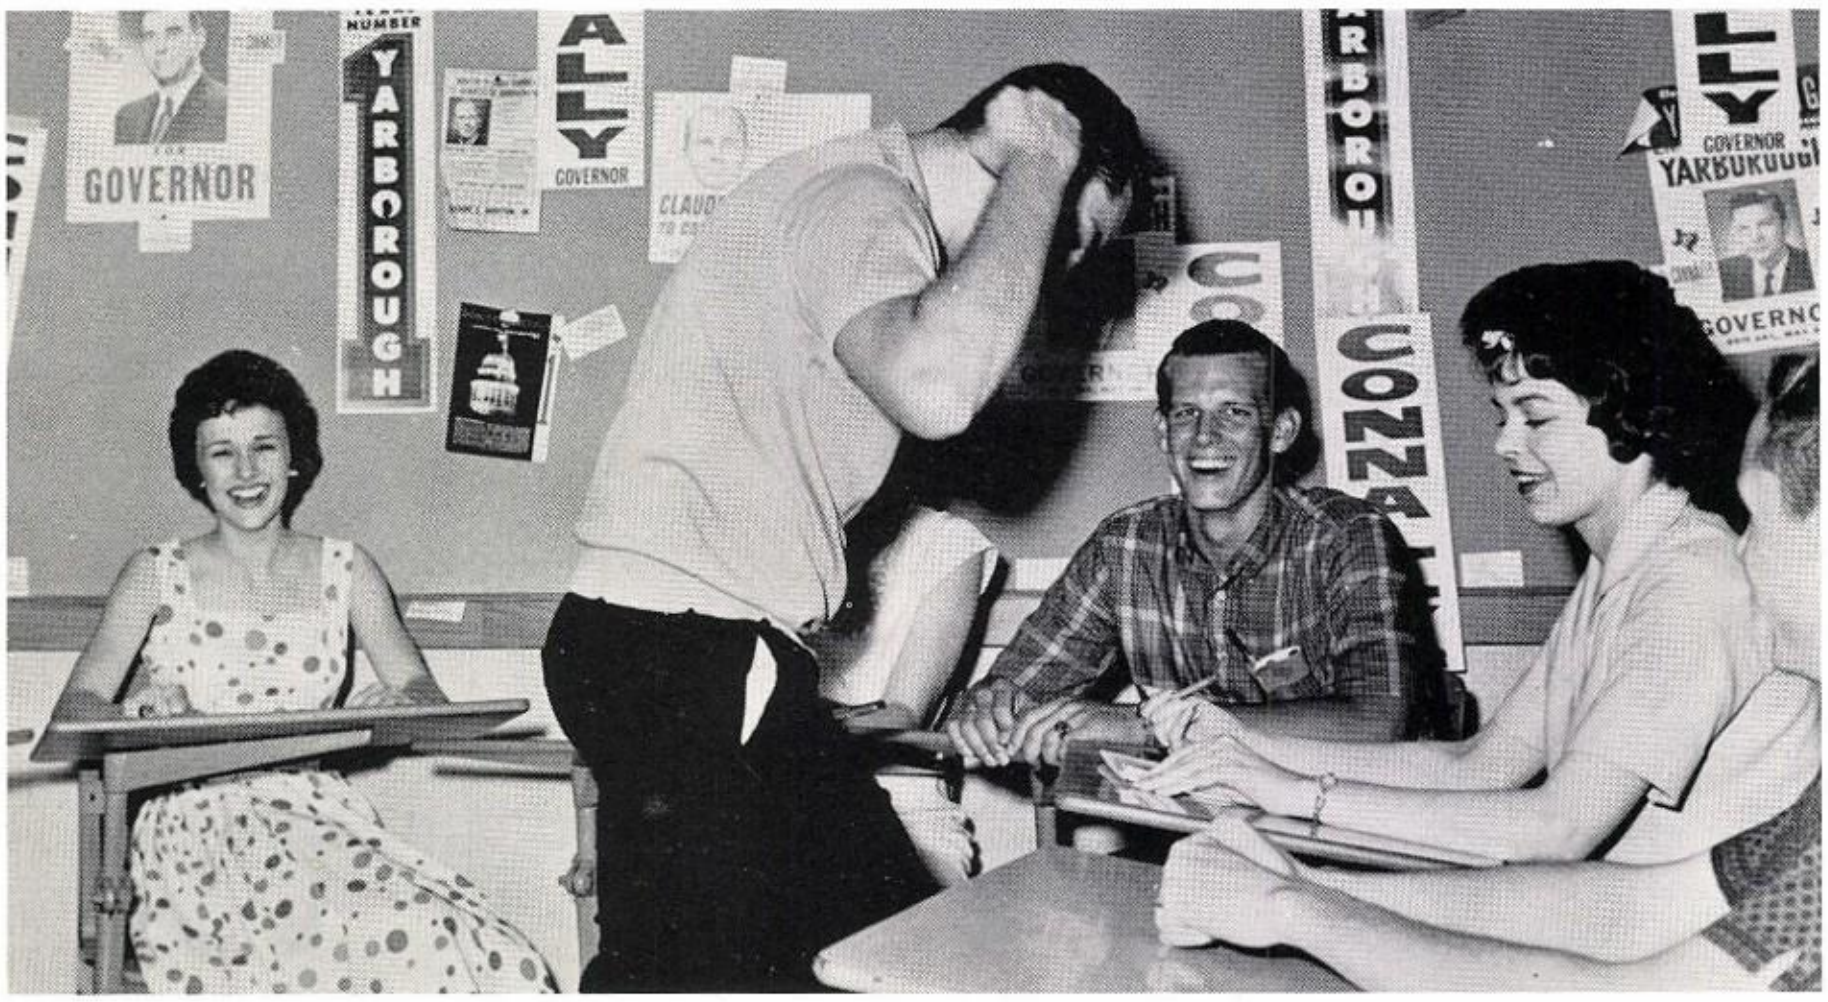
Patti Mangum welcomes visitors during Texas Education Week.

State and Local Campaigns and Politics Reach a Climax

Texas history students were seen campaigning madly for assigned candidates the week before state primary elections, while juniors and sophomores campaigned for next year's student body and class officers.



Ann Locke, Chuck Johnson, and Bill Nichols campaign for Don Yarborough for governor in Mrs. Warner's Texas history class.



Larry Peterson, "Liberal Democrat," gets quite upset over political discussions. It looks as if Kathy Fairman, Tommy Kruft and Davelyn Runnells enjoy getting him riled.

Mike Seale gives his speech in the campaign for vice-president of the student body at the sophomore and junior assembly, where all candidates appeared before the "voters" and spoke on their qualifications for the offices.

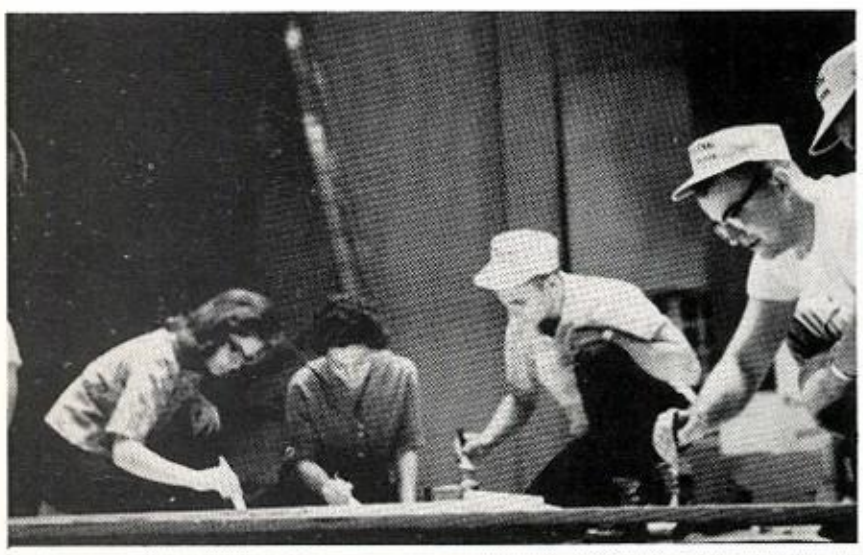
Libby Karns and Judy Bell take time between classes to read some of the clever posters that covered the halls.

How did this candidate get into the race?

Seniors Build

Seniors entered Trojan halls as excited upperclassmen prepared to start their final year in high school. Senior rings soon arrived and were worn with a sincere feeling of pride. So quickly did the year pass that almost before anyone realized it the Christmas formal, senior play, and senior prom were only wilted corsages and cherished memories. All too soon graduation ended high school days for seniors.

Exes Stanley Kaser, Paul Gomez, and Sandra Kielman try to persuade Gail Blackburn to join the Ex-Student Association.



Jean Aaron, Ann Ball, Bob Weathers, and Sterling Laird are just a few who worked behind the scenes to make the senior play possible.

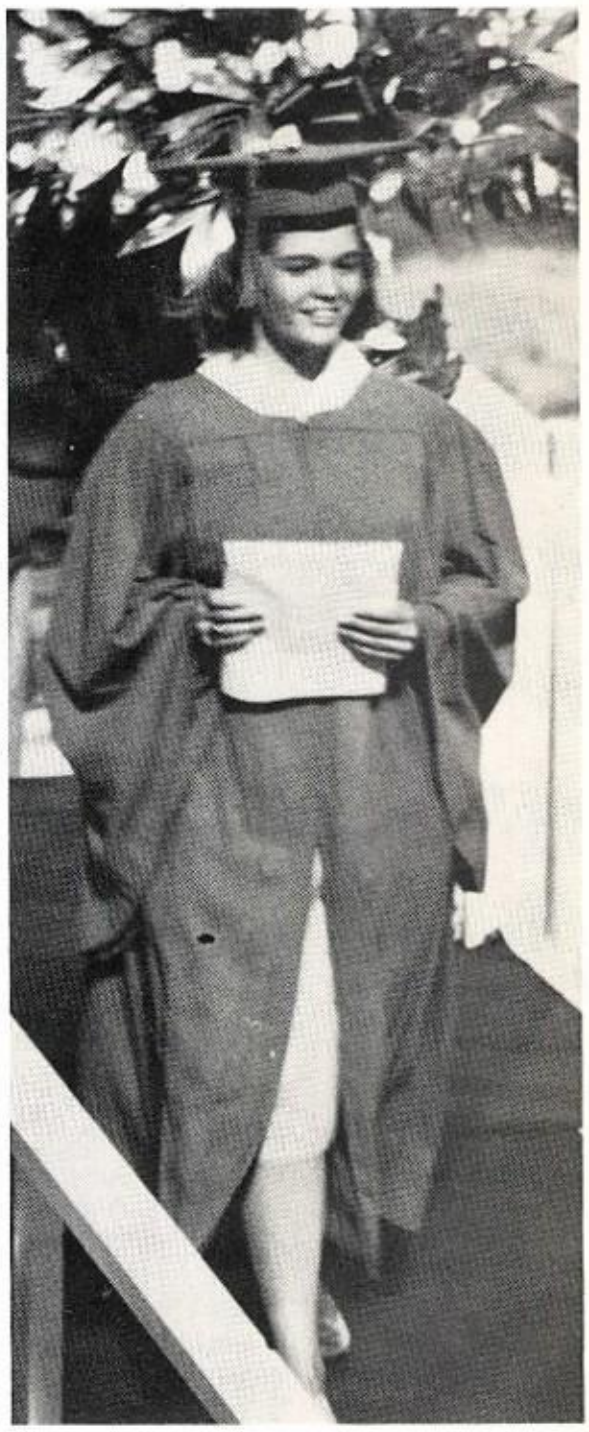
Toward

"Life With Father," the senior play, was a huge success.

Jerry Weede and his date and Mike Tollett and Gail Bilbray enjoy refreshments at the Senior Prom.

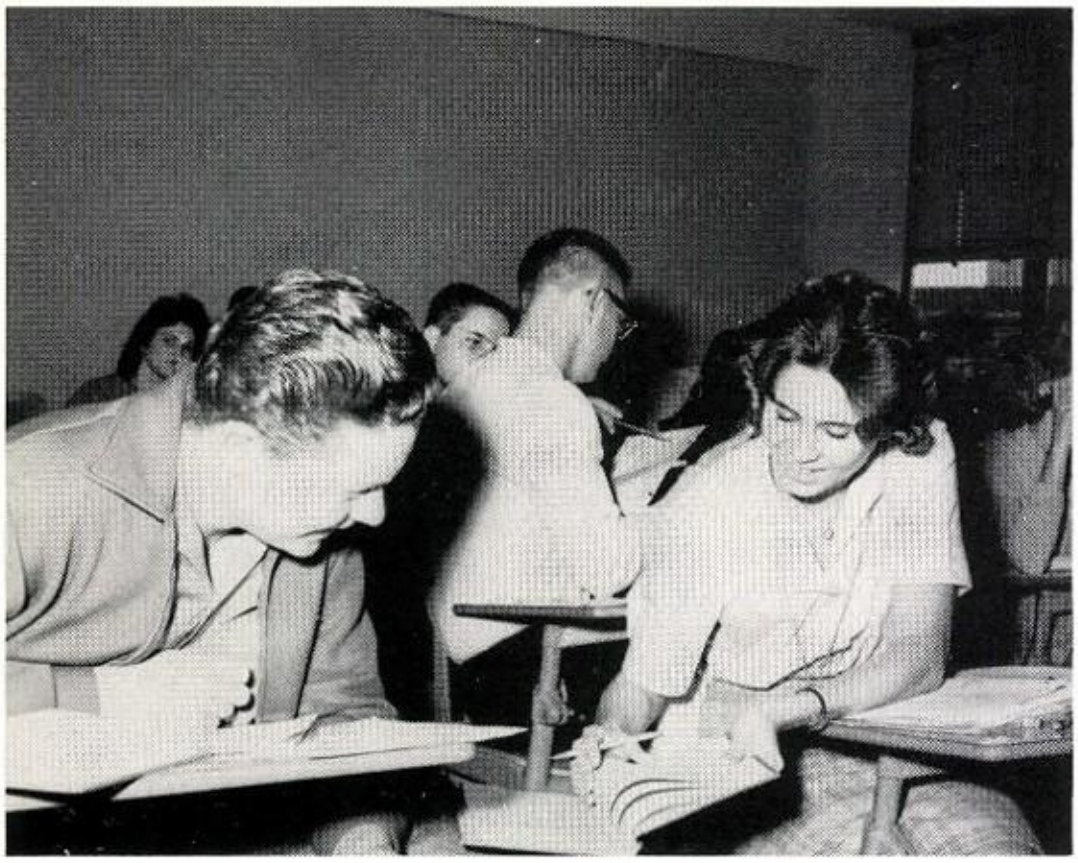
Final Year

Junior class officers give all seniors a tea after the senior assembly. Ann Isaacs, Margaret Parker, Georgia Lyon, Larry Peterson, Garry Rasor, and Reuben Garcia wait in line for punch and cookies.



Linda Olson smiles as she grasps that long-awaited diploma.

"Spring



"Show me one more time what an equation looks like," pleads Richard Norris of Gayle Bilbray just before final exams.

FINAL EXAMS!

It seems that in the spring a young man's fancy (Bobby Boone's) turns to love—also a young girl's (Chole Shi Franklin's)— and, alas, even the teachers'! (Mrs. Parker and her husband, Rev. Parker).

FANCIES TURN TO LOVE!

FAREWELL, MR. TEAGUE!

Everyone hated to see Mr. Teague leave South Houston. He will take the position of Deputy Superintendent in charge of secondary schools. The faculty presented him with a lovely lamp and desk set.

Has Sprung!"

"I just can't bear to give up my biology book," thinks Sue Barrington. Lloyd Adams and Jimmy Johnson don't seem as reluctant.

CHECK IN BOOKS!

"Can you believe it! We're actually seniors!" exclaim Don Burleson, Lynda Bowser, Pam Howell, and George Dimmick. Billie Readhimer and Tammy VanPelt seem just as overjoyed.

AT LAST!

Seniors Return for Final Year

With the first days of fall and a new school year, South Houston High School came to life with the excitement of hundreds of students converging upon her campus. The thrill felt by seniors at the sight of old friends and familiar surroundings was no less intense than that felt by bewildered sophomores. Are Senior Classes Any Different?

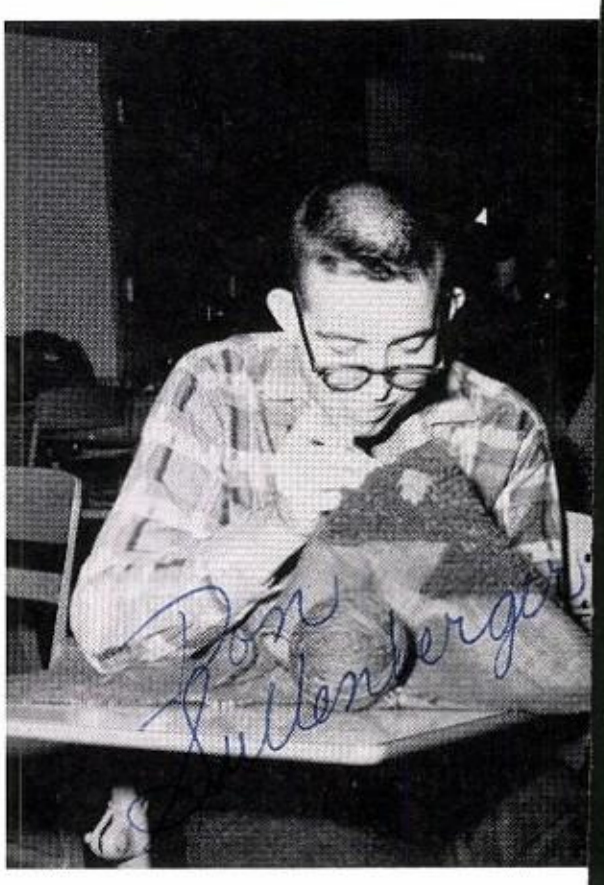
This senior English class works diligently on various subjects such as math, civics, and chemistry.

Daydreaming seems to be a favorite pastime of Bobbie Moore.

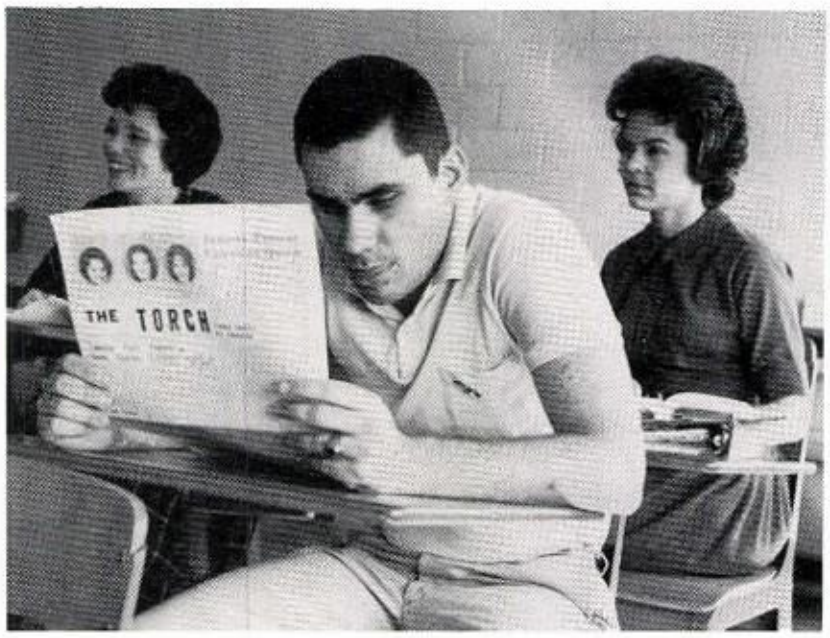
Tim Shaunty, the nonchalant, just stretches out and relaxes during most of his classes.



"I always seem to lag behind," complains Don Sullenberger as he hurries to finish last week's project.

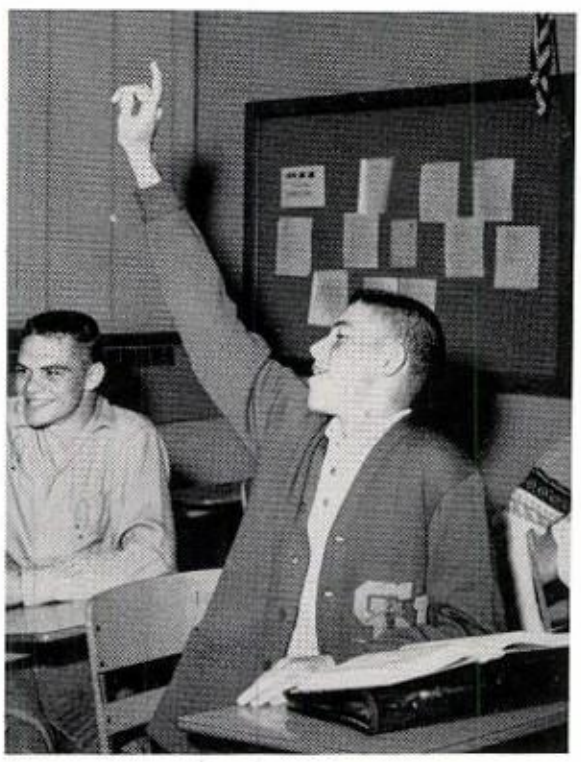
Numerous students tend to fall into several distinctive categories which are typical of every classroom. Seniors are no exception. Teachers who have hoped for a great change in senior classes are somewhat surprised to find that those lower classroom antics are still present in their classes. Candid shots of various classes reveal these typical poses so characteristic of a senior which keep him from being any different from his lower classmen.

Mrs. Frances Parker, a senior English teacher, repeatedly explains tomorrow's assignment to her class.



Then there is always a student like Larry Peterson who spends his time reading the Torch.

Always the clown, Robert Alexander pulls another stunt by letting Phyllis Paul tease his hair.



Don MacGillis typifies that serious-minded front-row eager beaver who always seems to know the answers.

Rosemary Nugent sneaks a few minutes to primp before class is over.

Prom Countdown Begins Early.

Senior proms are the biggest social event in life for many. School could not close without the final flurries of the senior prom. Long telephone conversations, whispering in the hall, plans for car sharing, date-making and breaking, corsage choosing, dress fitting and trouser lengthenings—all are part of the elaborate preliminaries that culminate in the dance that signals the end of one era and the beginning of something else.

2:00 p.m.—She begins early with a new coiffure

8:30 p.m.—"I have plenty of time," he says as he starts to get ready.

10:00 p.m.—He offers his apology, "I'm sorry I'm late," as he hands her the corsage.

12:30 a.m.—The boys seem restless as they wait for their dates.

2:00 a.m.—All good things must come to an end or is this the end?

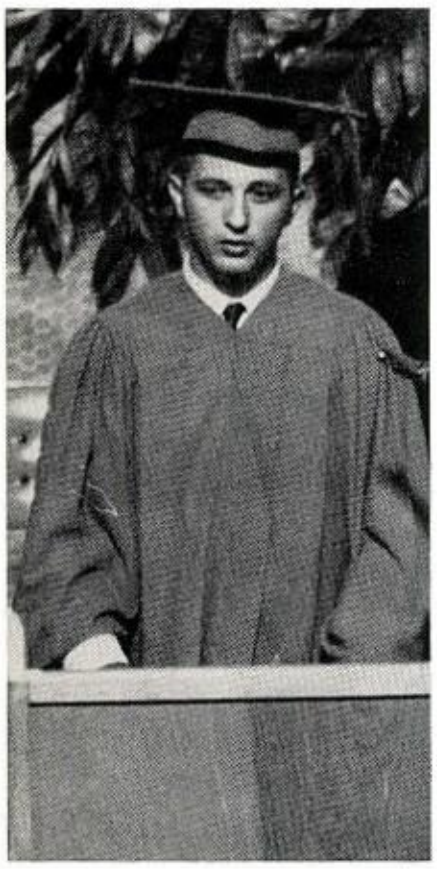
Terry Estes, junior, with the able help of Mr. Satterwhite, offers his help to Dwane Sample at the reception on Senior Day.

Graduating Seniors Will "Climb Ev'ry Mountain"

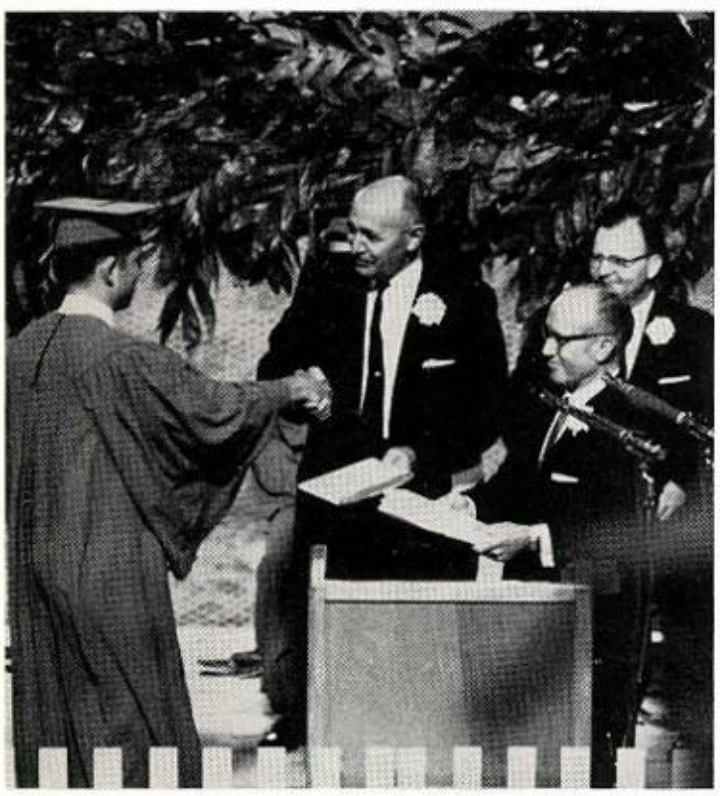


Senior speaker Lyle Ashley has words of encouragement and faith.

What is a senior thinking of on his graduation night? No doubt, some recall that momentous first day of the first grade. Such a long time has passed since that day, and yet how quickly the years have flown! Others may be looking ahead to their years of college and beyond that. Many feel a vast relief in the climaxing event of a culmination of twelve years' labor.

On May 29, seniors at SHHS received their diplomas to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," "Climb Ev'ry Mountain," and "Auld Lang Syne." Some rejoiced; some wept.

Tillie Schunior, who was an honor graduate, is South Houston's only home bound student ever to have graduated. She plans to become a poet.



Dwane Sample shakes hands with Mr. Thompson as Mr. Teague and Reverend McCullough look on.

Jerry Weede, Linda Wehmeyer, and Ella Mae Welch pass counselor Granville Knight and sponsor Charles Thomas as they begin the first part of the journey to receive their diplomas.

Headline Year

"I just can't wait until I'm a senior!" is probably the most frequent phrase in a student's vocabulary. For juniors, not only at South Houston, but also around the nation, the doors to the Big Event are about to be opened. Being the biggest wheel in the school has both advantages and disadvantages. One must live up to the expectations of the younger students and assist where help is needed. Also comes a whole Pandora's box of new and unique predicaments and situations. How those trials and emergencies are met and conquered will determine the future of the new upperclassmen.

Hard work can be fun. Just ask Lana Lary, who is looking forward to working again on the annual staff in her senior year.

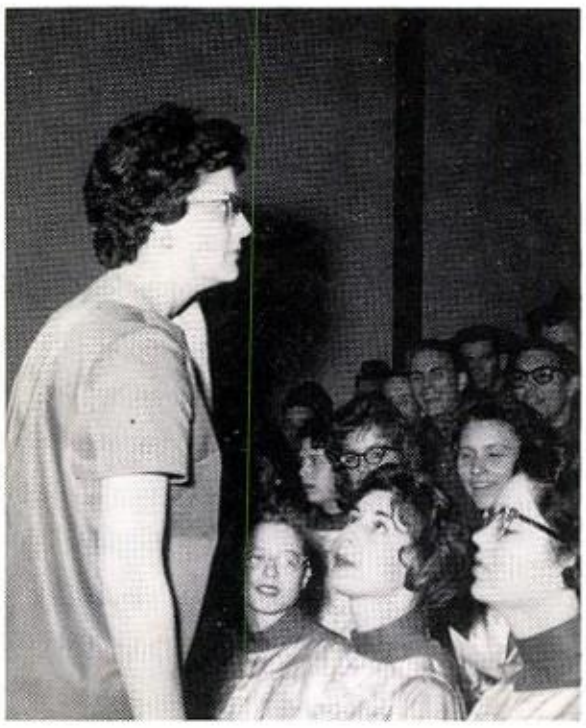
ORGANIZATIONS

Music-Making Is Aim

Mrs. Joyce Ghormley, director of the choir, answers a last minute question before the choir presents their Christmas program.



Bill McCain, Joan Pennington, Dan Salisbury, Junior Warner, Camille Teston, Tommy Moon, Bobette Kelly and Libbie Johnson serve as section leaders for the 1962 A Cappella Choir.

of A Cappella Choir

Under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Ghormely, the South Houston A Cappella Choir began planning their activities for the new school year. Immediately they turned their attention to selling programs at the home football games. Competition was stiff, as the one who sold the largest number was awarded a copy of the 1962 Paladium.

At Christmas, together with San Jacinto Jr. College's choir, the A Cappella Choir presented Handel's Messiah. Choir contest brought fresh honors when the student directors and four solos won first division.

Selections from the musical "West Side Story" were presented at the annual talent show. The entire school had the pleasure of hearing "The Deutches Requiem of Brahms" and an arrangement of "South Pacific" at the spring concert.

New jackets and letters get special attention from choir officers Carol Taylor, Emily Hubby, Dede Armentrout, Reginia Miller, Carol Olson, Sue Barrington and Jean Aaron.

Comprised of sixty-nine girls under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Ghormley, the Girls' Choir took an active part in both the Christmas program and the spring concert.

At contest each of the choir's student directors, Mary Cook and Shirley Daves, and a soloist made a 1st. The choir as a whole made a 2nd.

Raising money for new music was managed quite easily when the girls sold candy as their project.

"Everyone smile." Wanda Morse, Sandy Brooks, Betty Brooks, Nita Smith, and Raynan Roberts, choir officers, cheerfully obey orders.

Melody Made for Moderns . .

Section leaders Caryl Mathews, Marsha Hooper, Jo Pringle, and Dorinda Pearson look over the parts of a new piece of music.

Girls' Choir officers Mary Cook, Linda Morris, Linda Redfearn and Shirley Daves take time out to pose for the photographer.

by Modern Maids

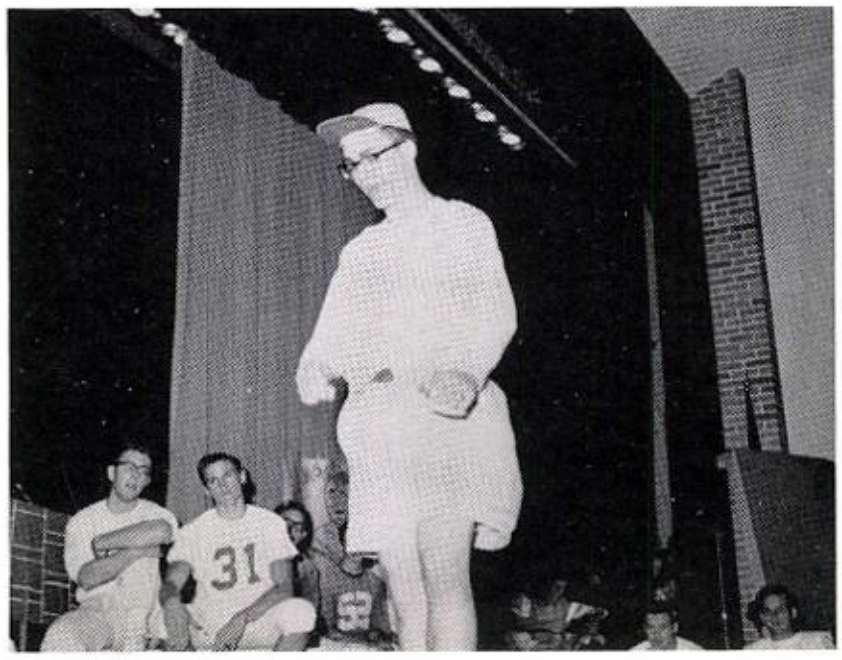
Ann Isaacs, Joan Pennington, Bill DeSpain, and Earl Stephens blend their voices in a skit for the Choir Superstition Talent Show.

As the saying goes, practice makes perfect. Under the direction of Mr. Teel, A Cappella members work hard to attain that perfection.

United Talent Provides Entertainment

Mrs. Ghormley leads the girls' choir as they entertain in the boys' gym during the annual Christmas' program.

Bob Weathers, alias Coach Gillioz, yells instructions to inattentive football pros in a skit for the annual choir talent show.



Christians Take Their Stand

Coach McNeil, Sherry Oliver, Billy McPhail, Mary Lou Manley, and Ann Ball make plans for the next C.S.U. meeting.

Could it be Bryan Campbell and Jeff Grimes are cooking up a new idea?

Christian Student Union was composed of students of all religious denominations meeting each Wednesday morning for thirty minutes of Christian fellowship. Under the direction of coach McNeil, sponsor, the group presented the morning devotions.

n History of South Houston

From the first minute of summer practice until the last day of school, the pace for band students never let up. Right on the heels of pep rallies and football games came the annual magazine subscription sales. As a supplement to the magazines, band members sold passes to the Gulfway Drive-in.

After Christmas began the hours of practicing before and after school that meant solo and ensemble contests. Then came the concert for the entire band, held in March. South Houston took a second in sight reading and a third in concert with the selection "March Onward," "Water Music Suite," and "American Overture."

Being a member of the band is hard work, but those who participate say, "It's the greatest!"

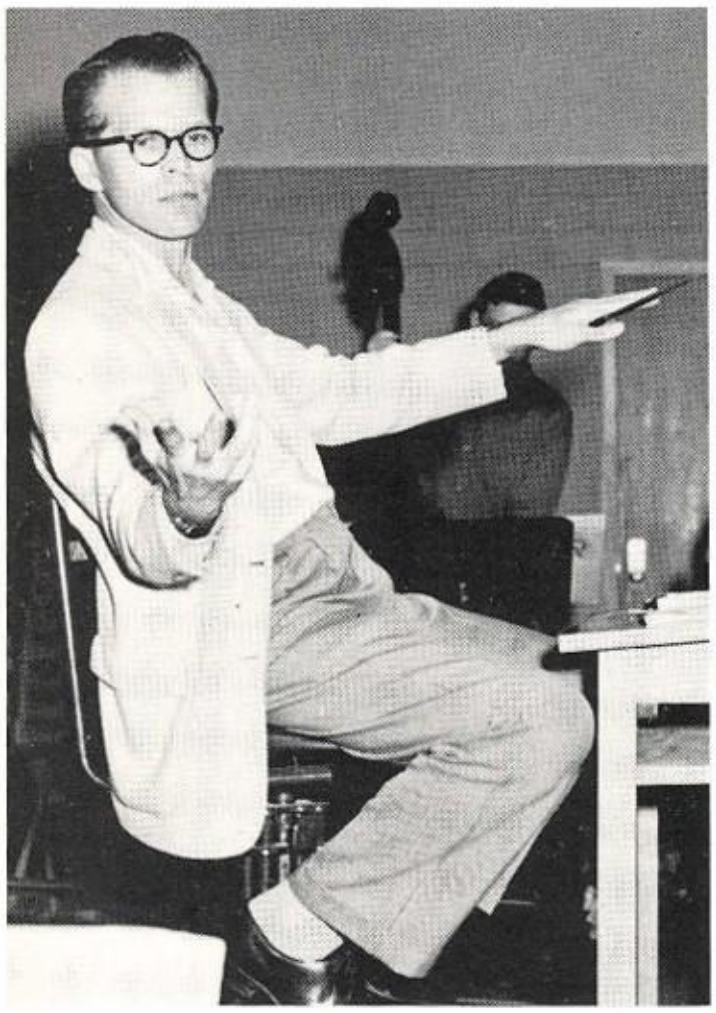
Members of the Orchestra tune up.

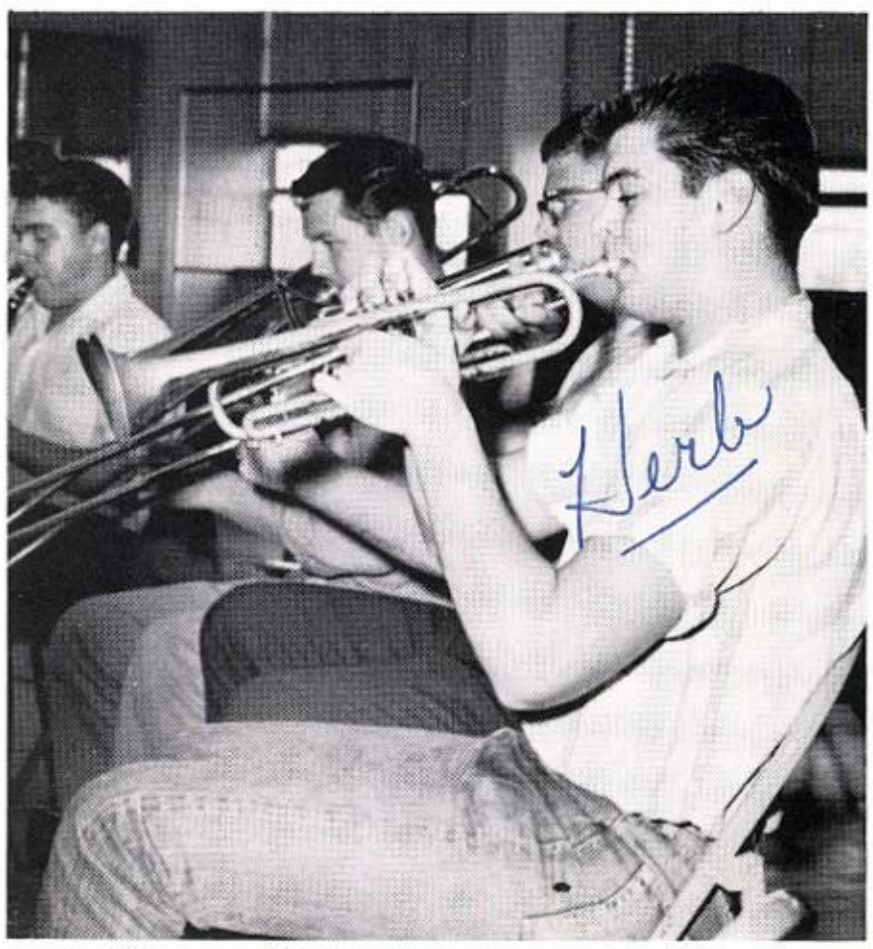
Trojan Orchestra Strikes New Note

The orchestra is a new addition to the clan of South Houston High School music-makers. Due to its newness, the orchestra does not have a large membership; however, it will grow in the years to come.



"Louder! Louder! Give me more volume! Now softly, softly, brass. This is supposed to be very QUIET."

"If that note comes out crooked just one more time . . . " Herb Fortson has his problems, too.



This year's officers were Jeanne Whitworth, reporter; Jean Anne Whitworth, secretary; Cordell Westerburg, vice-president; Donna Kirk, president; Peggy Brown, treasurer; and Frances Brown, historian.

Frances Brown and Christelle Byrne sketch the bears while Peggy Brown enjoys a snow-cone.

Art Clubbers Develop Talent

MISS JEAN BUCHANAN, Sponsor

Do you have a definite interest in art, one of the "finer things in life," but find that you can't fit an art class into your busy, already crowded schedule? Then join the art club.

One of the major activities includes field trips to the various Houston museums dedicated to fine art and modern art.

Membership offered not only a pleasant time with friends but a chance to develop one's talent.

Student Body Plus

Juniors

Sophomores

Faculty . . . Equals

Working through the Good Sportsmanship League, the Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Knight, tried to promote sportsmanship throughout all district academic activities as well as good will between the faculty and student body. To boost school spirit the Student Council members sold football ribbons before each football game. The profits were used in their projects, which this year included beautifying the campus and mounting the Victory Bell in the patio. They also sponsored the Sophomore Orientation Week and "Howdy" Party. Said Mr. Knight, "At every meeting we stress the academic and encourage achievement in all areas of school life."

. . . Student Council

Mr. Fisher, Karl Kruse, Rita Alvarado, and Eddie Sherrill admire the American flag given to the school by Woodmen of the World.

Mr. Knight inspects shrubbery around the campus. Watch out, little bush —he may be wondering how a young elm would look in your place.

Good Sportsmanship League members this year were sophomore Jeannette Thorp, senior Nortie White, and junior Caryl Matthews.

It's almost Christmas again. Putting the last colored balls and bits of tinsel on this tree are Eddie Sherrill, Kathy Fairman, and Davelyn Runnells.

Los Amigos Show Interest in Spanish Culture

Spanish club officers Roxy Mize, Rita Alvarado, Nathan Isqur, Liz Jackson and Dianne Wylie look over their favorite comics, which are in Spanish.

Have you ever wanted to know more about our friends "south of the border—down Mexico Way"? If you have, why not join the Spanish Club? Members have one thing in common—they all want to know more about Mexico and the Spanish flavor so prevalent in our Southern way of life.

Besides showing films taken in Old Mexico, records of Mexican music and literature such as books and magazines written in Spanish helped fulfill the purpose of the club. Christmas was celebrated by all with Latin-American goodies, tales of the Posada, and the legend of the poinsettia.

With the end of the year came the rush to order Spanish Club pins and charms.

"Where has that dummy gone this time?" "Would it be best to flop this picture or bleed it into the gutter?" "Somebody, please help me with this body copy!"

No, you haven't wandered into a class of codes and double-talk. The strange sounds are merely the jargon used by the Palladium staff members as they move into high gear in order to meet another deadline. They have made making a good yearbook their business and have put every possible effort into fulfilling their obligation to the student body and the school.

Anyone interested in learning about teaching as a career is welcome to join the Future Teachers of America. Through study, observation of real teachers, and participation in substitute teaching programs, the qualities essential to a good teacher are developed within each member.

Guest speakers discussed why they became interested in teaching, the advantages and disadvantages of teaching, and teachers from the view of other occupations. Members discussed the value of having a "Career Night," one night where men and women from different fields of work come and discuss their occupation with students who are interested in that particular area. The film, "And Gladly Teach," on education and student education, was shown just before some members were allowed to go to elementary schools and substitute teach for one day.

Der Deutsche Freundschafts Klub

Meets First Time This Year

What would you like to know about Germany? Do the people in the Black Forest still carve toys and cuckoo clocks from wood? Are their large industrial cities like our own? What is the countryside like?

For the first time South Houston can boast of a German Club, bridging the gap between two nationalities. With the guidance of Mr. Herman Grammer and the aid of such films as "Friends in Germany," "Children of Germany," and three newsreels, members came closer to understanding the people in a country across the ocean.

The film "Meet Germany," was obtained from the German Consulate in Houston as a visual aid to the history teachers' team teaching program.

Library Club Circulated 17,000 Books in 1962

Being profoundly interested in books and library work is the requirement of the Library Club. Members' activities consist of circulation of books and periodicals, reference work, order work, and care of books. This year four delegates attended the Texas Teenage Library Convention in San Angelo.

To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character was the purpose to which each member of Tri-Hi-Y worked this year.

Trojan Leaders Are Outstanding

Scholarship, moral character, and strong leadership qualities go into the making of a good student body officer. To be eligible, a student must have and maintain a high C average and is asked to submit a letter stating why he wants to run for office and a petition bearing the signature of five members of his class. A screening committee composed of the principal, counselor, class sponsors, and other faculty members review the applicants. Those passing the screening committee present a short campaign speech and are voted on by the entire student body.

Trojan Spirit Shines in '61 Season

Good Sportsmanship Is Essential

Following along with sports of any kind, good sportsmanship plays a big part. Although tempers are difficult to contain during a football contest, the South Houston Trojans have learned to be "modest winners and good losers."

Good sportsmanship by members of each team is shown as they shake hands and walk off the field after a hard fought battle. Even though sports of all kinds become heated on occasions, the treasured tradition of congratulations in the center of the football field has remained through the years.

Vicious defensive play is shown by a number of Trojans. Larry Avant (55), Charles Nash (28), and Roy Blake (68) are pictured in action.

South Houston Yields to Bellaire

South Houston opened its '61 season by fooling the sports writers. The Trojans' annual opener with Bellaire proved to the spectators that the scarlet and gray would not be a pushover to anyone in spite of the 28-13 loss.

After a hard-fought first half, Bellaire was ahead 14-0. During the third quarter, Dickie Muehlenbeck completed a touchdown pass to David Lawhorn. Rodney Hanks completed the Trojan scoring in the final quarter with Lothar Deiss kicking the extra point.

Trojans Overwhelm Beaumont 31-0

From the beginning kick-off to the final whistle, South Houston dominated play in the game with Beaumont. Charles Nash, Billy McCain, Dana Key, David Lawhorn, and Nortie White furnished the scoring with Dickie Muehlenbeck passing for two of the five touchdowns. The fine blocking of the Trojan line helped make the scoring possible. Lothar Deiss was credited with the extra points.

Trojans Make History

For the first time in the history of the school the aggressive Trojan team downed the Ball High Tors, with a score of 20-14. The biggest crowd ever to follow the team witnessed the best game it has played this season. At the half the Trojans left the field with a 14-0 lead. Then in the third period the fired-up Tors came back and tied the score quickly. The score remained tied until the last 56 seconds of the game when a spectacular pass from Joe Bob Wolf to David Lawhorn cinched the game for the Trojans.

South Houston Downs Pasadena's Eagles

Three years of school rivalry between South Houston ended in two out of three wins for South Houston. The Trojans faced the Pasadena Eagles with blood in their eyes.

The Trojans dominated the Eagles in the first half, leading 7-0 at half time. The fired-up Eagles returned in the third quarter and moved ahead 13-7. Later in the fourth quarter Charles Nash tallied his second touchdown of the night after Billy Manis intercepted an Eagle pass. Lothar Deiss converted, making the score 15-13. Two more intercepted passes helped contain the Eagles' offense. Fierce defensive play and quick offensive blocking and running combined for the Trojans' victory.

The Trojans fought with all they had, but attempt after attempt failed to bring a score. The defensive play of the Trojans was very commendable, as they held some of the leading ball carriers in the district to minimum rushing yardage. The game ended—Baytown, 25 and South Houston, 0.

Thursday night, November 2, was a gloomy night for the Trojans. The Brazosport Exporters handed the Trojans their fourth district defeat. From the starting whistle till the last down of ball was played, the Skippers dominated the game.

Under the guidance of Coach Harry Morgan the Trojan grid team was able to compile a record of four wins and six losses. South Houston's comparatively young and inexperienced squad learned a lot of new and valuable football know-how as the season progressed.

The season was started out on a losing note as the Trojans fell to Bellaire by 28 to 13. In the next two weeks the Trojans won consecutive victories against Eastern Hills and French of Beaumont.

Getting into district play, the Trojans defeated Ball High 20 to 14 and Pasadena 15-12. The rest of the season saw few bright spots for the Trojans as they fell to Smiley, Baytown, Galena Park, Brazosport, and Texas City in succession.

A number of the boys on the team were honored on various all-district teams.

Spring Means Baseball

At South Houston baseball, as in the past years, had its bad luck during the '62 season. As in many sports around Trojanland, experience seems to be the issue. The Trojan baseballers finished their season winning only three ball games. Many young boys gained experience during the '62 season, and the future looks bright for the next few baseball teams.

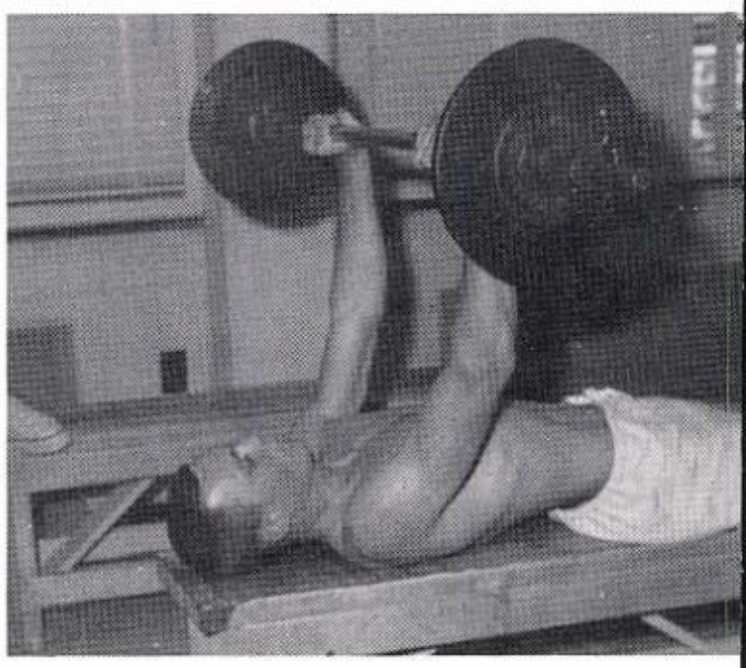
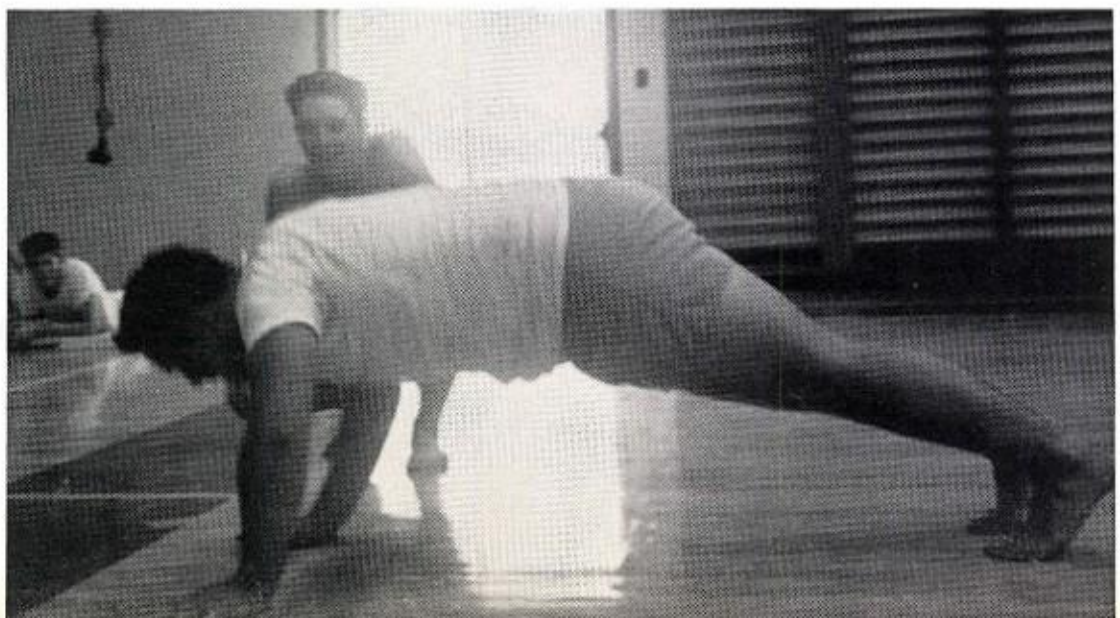
Physical Education

Physical education throughout our nation has been stressed strongly during the past few years. The strength of a nation depends entirely on the strength of its youth. The job of keeping the modern day boy and girl physically fit has been given to the schools, both jr. high and high school. Young men and women gain new experiences in sports and learn important material taught in health classes. .

South Houston is no exception. Boys and girls have opportunities to compete in many P.E. activities such as baseball, football, track, and basketball. Instruction is also given in weight lifting, volleyball, and gymnastics.



Keith Bodine demonstrates his ability to do bench-presses.



Richard Holcomb enjoys an hour of hard work doing push-ups.

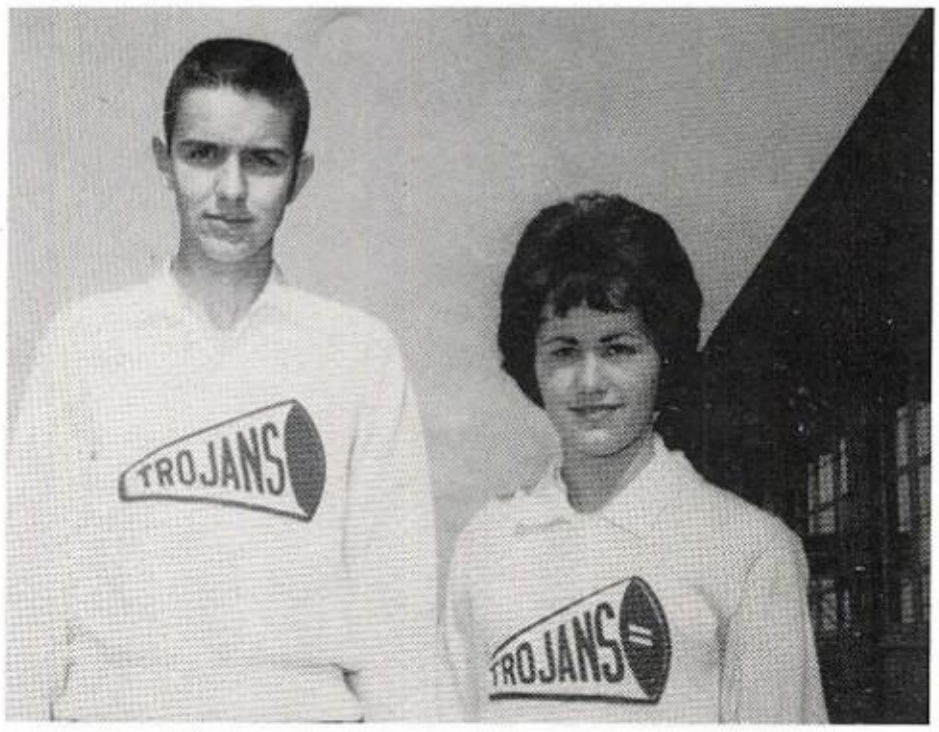
School spirit was constantly boosted by the work of our cheerleaders.

"All the Way, Big Red!"

Cheerleaders spend a great deal of extra time and effort to serve the school well. They lead not only cheers, but school spirit. Preparing posters, planning and presenting pep rallies before and after school, and attending all high school interscholastic games is their great effort to present the high standards of South Houston High abroad and promote good sportsmanship.



Linda Fisher (junior) and Wayne Armstrong (sophomore) were selected as the outstanding cheerleaders for this year on the basis of their participation and leadership.

How Soon After Graduation Will You Start Paying The Bills?

It just depends, doesn't it? . . . whether you're going off to college . . . getting married . . . going to work right away.

Whichever route you take, in the not too distant future you'll probably start using electric service in your own home. We thought you'd like to know that your Light Company is made up of folks just like you . . . folks who have worked very hard to keep electric rates low.

We are a business-managed, tax-paying company—a part of the American free enterprise system that has brought more benefits to more people than any other in history.
